Gold Find Starts Another Rush to Rich Cassiar Area

Prospectors Speed to Northern British Columbia Field to Stake Claims Following Discovery of Rich Lode of Gold, Silver and Copper; Extensive Developments Had Been Anticipated; Department of Mines for Province Awaits Reports From Its Engineer There.

Reports on another rush to the rich Cassiar mining district are expected within a few days by the B.C. Mines Department from St. W. Dodd, Gold Commissioner at Telegraph Creek. In the meantime officials of the department are considerably interested in the reported discovery of a body of ore believed to contain gold, copper and silver worth $60 a ton. The report from Wrangell, Alaska, states that prospectors are now rushing to the Cassiar district, 100 miles up the Stikine River, northeast of Wrangell, in northern British Columbia as a result of the discovery made by George Drapich, old-time Yukon miner, on the eastern bank of the stream near the village of Glenora. Early arrivals in the district have already staked thirty-two claims, while a large number of miners will leave here on the next boat.

One of the veins is about thirty feet wide, reports received here said. Samples brought down by Drapich ran $49.44 in copper, $2.20 in gold and indicated a silver content of about five ounces to the ton. A shipment of fifteen tons of ore will be brought down the river and sent to smelter as soon as it can be mined, Drapich said.

The strike is in a district where Dr. Forrest A. Kerr, of the Canadian geological survey indicated in an official report more than a year ago that important mining developments might be anticipated.

PROMISING COUNTRY
The Cassiar country is rated as a promising prospecting country with all the rivers flowing between the Alaska Panhandle and North Pacific as likely grounds. The latest discovery is a lode find, but extensive placer developments had been anticipated around Dease Lake and Telegraph Creek. The whole country has been a field for the prospectors since Cariboo gold days when some of the miners

Former Member Eulogizes Dunning Budget in First Campaign Address

Special to The Times
Cumberland, June 5.—A. W. Neill was renominated as Independent candidate for Comox-Alberni at an enthusiastic convention held last night at Courtenay, and attended by 300 delegates representing every part of the riding. The nomination was moved by W. A. B. Paul of Comox and seconded by Mayor Steele of Port Alberni. Mayor Maxwell of Cumberland occupied the chair, and Mayor MacIntyre of Courtenay welcomed the delegates to Courtenay.

Replying to the nomination, Mr. Neill spoke very highly of his opponent, Thomas Graham, and said the coming campaign, as far as he was concerned, would be carried out with all fairness. Mr. Neill commented on the recent Conservative convention held in Courtenay and expressed the belief that the choice of Mr. Graham as Conservative candidate was cut and dried in Vancouver before he ever stood for nomination in Comox-Alberni.

OAK BAY CLOSING DISPUTE OVER TEACHING STAFF

Trustees Refuse to Reopen Question on Changes at Willows School

A move to reopen discussion on the request for the resignations of W. E. Hoadley and Miss E. Beatty, principal and teacher respectively at the Willows School, received a sudden check at the special meeting of the Oak Bay School Board yesterday evening.

The motion to bring the matter up again, voiced by Trustee J. Murray, new member to the board, failed to secure a second and the matter remained a closed book as far as the body was concerned.

The board went into a lengthy consideration of the four-year high school course, but after long deliberation decided to wait until G. M. Billings, principal-elect of the Oak Bay High School, had gone further into the matter and seen how it was taken by the student body of the institution.

After he has spent some time at the school, he will report back to the board at its meeting on June 10, and is expected to make certain recommendations on the action of the trustees.

Some confusion was encountered by the members while considering the different certificates offered students in the High School under the four-year system. While the act provided for the young student who wished to go through the course in three years, there was some doubt as to the credits he would receive.

Do Not Overwork Husband,
Says Dinner Service Expert

If the Head Does the Carving, Do Not Ask Him to Do Anything Else or He Will Strike; Pointers Given on Seating of Guests and Service Hints.

Toronto, June 5.—Does your husband do the carving at dinner? If so be careful. Don't ask him to do anything else or he will go on strike, was the advice given to the large number of women at the afternoon lecture on "Table Service" on the mezzanine floor of the Arcadian Court, Robert Simpson Company, by Mrs. Marie L. Fenn, who is here giving a short series of talks on that ever-increasing subject.

"The reason so many men now let their wives do the carving is that when they did carve, their wives weren't satisfied and also insisted upon them serving dessert, gravies and sauces. So they went on strike," continued the speaker.

"Years ago, in the days of large families, often the head of the house had as many as twenty plates set down in front of him, and he had to do the carving with this great mountain of plates in front of him. Now, only one plate at a time is placed in front of him and the others placed to the left with his silver at the right."

"To-day, very often, the hostess leaves her own place at the foot of the table, and sits at the left of the host, serving the dressing there. Once there, of course, she remains there throughout the entire meal," stated Mrs. Fenn. "The host never leaves his place during dinner, and at supper the hostess never leaves her place."

Speaking of the order of serving guests, Mrs. Fenn remarked that years ago, before women's rights were mentioned, and before they had the franchise, the women guests were always served first at dinner. Nowadays, however, since they have announced their ability to look after themselves, this is not the case, and each guest is served in turn.

The vexing question of seating guests, which has so often upset the peace of an otherwise perfect hostess, was also touched upon by the speaker, who stated that a dinner table was one thing that should always separate husband and wife.

"Don't place a husband and wife next to each other at your dinner party," she urged. "Give the husband a treat and place his wife opposite him so that he can see just how pretty she looks."

Three forms of dinner service are used now, according to Mrs. Fenn. "The Russian, where everything is passed by the butler or maid, and the guests help themselves to everything; the English, where the host carves, and the hostess serves dessert; and the maid passes the vegetables, letting each guest help himself; and the mixed service—where some things are served from the kitchen."

"Always serve your coffee in the living room," warned the speaker. "Because it is often a great help to a dinner party that finds conversation lagging in the dining room. Moving into another room and having coffee poured there by the hostess, which is always done, is a welcome stimulus. Then, too, it is a very decorative custom."

"Don't, above all else, serve cream in your coffee. It should be decaffeinated after dinner without cream," she pleaded.

Butter, too, was forbidden at dinner. A cold roll without butter, only, is allowed.

Roast fowl, roast lamb and roast beef are company meats.

Service plates are removed at the meat course. We must never be plateless until the salad course, Mrs. Fenn, who also gave a good hint on candle economy.

"Put them in your refrigerator," she suggested. "And they will burn slowly at the table."

The flat silverware is placed in sequence as it is to be used. The knives are to the right of the plate, the spoons to the left. The fork is placed at the right with the knives.

Goblets are being used now instead of tumblers. They give height to the table. Long glass plates are served with a glass plate for the spoon.

Table napkins should be folded oblong, not fancy, and are now twenty-two inches by twenty-four inches, and are placed on the service plate unless first course is already served when guests sit down.

Place doilies are still used, but not to such an extent as formerly. Men never liked place doilies, and so the pendulum is swinging back to cloths which are absolutely essential for dinner service.

Artificial flowers should never be used on a dinner table. The cup is never raised when pouring tea, and the glass is never raised when pouring water.

There were a few of the points stressed by Mrs. Fenn, who closed her lecture with the following recipe for baked Virginia ham, which is the one used by President Wilson's mother.

Put a chicken for serving. Wrap each portion in a thin slice of uncooked ham, tying with string. Place three or four cloves in each piece. Place in well greased baking pan. Dust lightly with brown sugar and flour. Place in hot oven until fat begins to run. Reduce heat and add half a cup of stock or water with butter in it.

What Exaggeration!

"So you don't think Mrs. Meier tells the truth?"

"She lies to such an extent that you can't even believe the opposite of what she says."

ALLOWED AFTER
COURT HEARING

Vancouver, June 5.—Adjudicating on a lost will, Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald in the B.C. Supreme Court yesterday held it had been established to the satisfaction of the court, and gave judgment for the plaintiff.

It was an action in which Rev. John Croft Mitton sought to prove in solemn form the lost will of his wife, Angela M. Mitton, who died January 19. He stated that his wife's will and his own had been left in a box in the garage adjoining his home. Burglary raided the garage, he declared, and the loss of the will and other securities was not discovered until after his wife's death.

The will appointed the husband sole beneficiary of a $3,000 estate, it was declared.

The plaintiffs' children, John, fourteen, Patrick, eight, and Sylvia, six, were cited defendants.

INSANE MEN RECAPTURED

Search Made For Three Criminals Still at Large in Michigan

Ionia, Mich., June 5.—With ten of the thirteen criminal insane inmates of the Michigan State Hospital here who forced their way to freedom early Tuesday once more in custody, police as to-day dawned, directed their efforts to recapture the three still at large. Roy A. Wynkoop, Henry Vaden, and Gerald Badgley, Sheriff's officers believed they might have stolen an automobile and escaped from this section. Two of the fugitives were retaken shortly after the break; three were captured near the hospital Tuesday night; three were found in a nearby field yesterday; another was taken from a freight train at Owosso, and the tenth was captured fifteen miles north of Ionia. Among the captured is Joseph Babajak, leader of the escape plot. Deputy Sheriff Edward Good narrowly escaped being the victim of an alert farmer's wife who fired on him when she mistook his party for a group of the escaped inmates.

AUTO SEEN
Information came to Sheriff French yesterday that a large maroon automobile had been seen cruising near the hospital shortly before the escape on Tuesday. The informant told the sheriff the car was driven by a friend of the leader in the delivery.

Vaden is a slayer. He is believed to have been the man who assisted Babajak in the escape plot. Wynkoop created a near panic in a Detroit courtroom in 1920 when he confronted Judge Fred S. Lamb of Cadillac with two pistols. Badgley is considered a dangerous character.

on Behalf of Canadians

Canadian Press
Ottawa, June 5.—On the occasion of the unveiling of a statue of General Wolfe in Greenwich Park, London, to-day, a message was cabled by Premier King. The message, sent to Hon. Philippe Roy, Canadian Minister to France, to be read at the unveiling of the statue by the Marquis de Montcalm, was as follows:

"I regret exceedingly that official duties prevent my attendance at the unveiling of a monument, the creation of a Canadian sculptor, in memory of Major-General James Wolfe. The ceremony to-day has many features of special interest to Canada. You have with you as the representatives of the Dominion our first Minister to France, a Canadian of French origin. You have also others who have figured in our national life.

BEGINNING OF ERA
"Wolfe, the hero of a momentous event in world history, is more than a hero to us. His death on the Plains of Abraham marked the beginning of a new era in government, the success of which is emphasized by your presence to-day."

"One hundred years ago the Governor-General of Canada unveiled a monument at Quebec, bearing the inscription 'Wolfe—Montcalm' and to-day the Marquis de Montcalm has crossed the channel to unveil a monument to the illustrious opponent of his heroic ancestor."

"Old feuds were buried on the Plains of Abraham, 170 years ago, and from that time English and French have lived side by side, each race guarding jealously its own traditions, but uniting its purpose and determination to uphold the glory of the Canadian nation under the aegis of the British crown."

MASONIC EVENT IS NEW BRITISH AND U.S. BOND

London, June 5.—The Duke of Connaught, grand master of English Free Masons, yesterday cabled his congratulations to the Masons of the United States.

"On the even of the 200th anniversary of the first grand lodge recognition of American Free Masonry, by constituting a provincial grand lodge for New England," the message said, "I wish to congratulate all our brethren in the United States on the great Masonic progress they have made."

"I reiterate my fraternal good wishes and sincere desire for their continued happiness and prosperity. It remains my earnest hope that the tenets of our order may assist still further to strengthen the bond of friendship and good will which so happily exists between our nations."

"I shall continue to watch with sympathy every endeavor on both sides of the Atlantic to promote those feelings by the development of Free Masonry in its purest, highest forms."

B.C. IS SHIPPING MORE LUMBER TO MEXICANS

Paper Imports of Central America From Dominion
Also Increasing

Times Special Correspondence
Mexico City, June 5.—The market in Mexico and Central America for Douglas fir and other timbers from British Columbia is on the increase, according to C. Noel Wilde, Canadian trade commissioner in Mexico.

Canadian manufacturers of white duck drill cloth and canvas are bidding fair to monopolize this market in the Central American countries, says Mr. Wilde, who has just returned from a tour of the Central American republics.

Pacific Milk Brought Health
A mother in Revelstoke who was having a hard time with her baby, turned, on the advice of her doctor, to Pacific Milk.

"When my little baby was two weeks old," she writes, "she took sick and nothing would agree with her. She was losing weight when the doctor advised trying her on Pacific Milk, and in a very short time baby began to improve. At ten months she was walking, was the picture of health and never in another day."

B.C. IS SHIPPING MORE LUMBER TO MEXICANS

Pulp paper from the Dominion is eagerly sought after here, Mr. Wilde says, and is offering a strong challenge to the produce from the Scandinavian lands. In Central America a good demand for Canadian-made kitchen utensils, particularly enamel cooking ware, is developing despite the enterprise of certain manufacturers of these goods.

In a word, the slogan "Made in Canada" is beginning to become more and more common on goods seen south of the Rio Grande.

FISH MARKET
While there still exists a demand, the market for British Columbia canned salmon has decreased almost to the vanishing point in Mexico, says Mr. Wilde. This is not because the Mexican public does not like the famous British Columbia product, but is owing to the fact that Mexican operated canneries in the Territory of Lower California are putting up a fish that is similar to the salmon and are offering it at a lower price than the imported article. Furthermore, the import tariff on British Columbia salmon in Mexico is very high, which is one of the things that make it difficult to compete with domestic canneries.

The Canadian potato market in Mexico has practically disappeared, owing to the extensive production of that vegetable here and the high handling costs.

London, June 5.—Conflict between the British Government and the Vatican over the recent political crisis in the British colony of Malta was revealed here last night in the issuance of an official blue book, which contained correspondence concerning the Maltese situation, and charged the Vatican with acting in a manner "which constitutes nothing less than a claim to interfere with the domestic politics of a British colony."

of Malta, which is an important British naval base in the Mediterranean, has been split into two factions because of a conflict between the Maltese Government and churchmen.

The trouble arose when the Prime Minister, Baron Strickland, himself a Roman Catholic, prevented ecclesiastical authorities from transferring a Franciscan priest who was a native Maltese to a Sicilian monastery against his will. The churchmen thereupon forbade Maltese Catholics to vote for the government party in the elections.

Later a concordat between the government and the Holy See was put in draft form. It defined the relations of the church and state in the colony, and was expected to settle the controversy.

On May 23 a young Nationalist attempted unsuccessfully to assassinate Lord Strickland.

Malta, June 5.—Archbishop Caruana yesterday refused to permit a special Te Deum to be sung in the Cathedral of St. John in thanksgiving for the escape of Lord Strickland from an attempted assassination May 23.

SETTLERS FLEE AS VILLAGE BURNS
Toronto, June 5.—Forget, a small settlement between Mattice and Opasatika in northwestern Ontario, was destroyed by fire yesterday, according to word received by the Ontario forestry department here. Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs, indigestion, usually mean excess acid. The stomach, nerves, eye, nose, throat, too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids—any drugstore.

Rinso
in tub or washer

These thick, creamy suds soak clothes whiter — without scrubbing

It's almost unbelievable how snowy and gleaming Rinso soaks clothes—without scrubbing or boiling. Even in hardest water badly soiled pieces need only the least bit of gentle hand-rubbing to make them spotless.

No wonder Rinso saves the clothes. They actually wear months longer when washed this safe, scrubless way!

Economical, too. In tub or washer, Rinso is all you need—no softeners, chips or bar soaps. Granulated, compact, one cupful of Rinso gives more suds than two cupfuls of lightweight, puffed-up soaps. And the thick, creamy Rinso suds last.

Recommended by the makers of 38 leading washing machines. Used by thousands of washing machine demonstrators for safety and for whiter clothes.

Keep a BIG household package of Rinso handy. Makes all cleaning easier—more thorough.

SUBSTANCE AND SHADOW

CONSERVATIVE POLITICIANS IN CANADA have ever regarded the flag as their personal property. Every four years at election time they have hoisted it aloft, waved it in the breeze, wrapped it about their bosoms and defied the wicked Liberals to desecrate it over their dead bodies. This time the flag has been a little late in appearing on the Conservative band wagon, for which there were excellent reasons in the Dunning budget. But everyone knew it would appear after a while, and no one was surprised when it did.

Mr. Bennett waited some time for his opportunity. It came with the recent debate in the House of Commons on the decisions of a special committee of the 1926 Imperial Conference which had been considering empire relationships. The purpose of the committee was to frame in law the equal status of the Dominions with Britain, which already had been achieved in fact. Instantly the flag was unfurled in a hurricane of Conservative oratory. Mr. Bennett, with a fine note of poetry, wanted to know what resentment the Canadian government had "to harbor against the little islands in the North Sea." What, he asked, had those islands done to Canada that they should be represented as tyrannizing over us? Why, he demanded, should young Canadians be taught that Britain has been oppressing this country? And he went on to plead eloquently for a just feeling towards the Mother Land.

Here, surely, is a spectacle to amuse and delight the electors of this country. Here is Mr. Bennett shuddering at the thought of Canada offending Britain, and at the same time shuddering still more violently at the thought of Canada giving British goods a preference in this market. The former shudder, of course, is supposed to counteract the latter, but somehow the two shudders do not seem to synchronize. The average Briton, viewing these things from afar, will be able to distinguish the substance from the shadow. The substance is the policy of the Mackenzie King government in giving British goods more advantages in our markets than they have ever enjoyed before—in preference to the goods of foreign nations. The shadow is Mr. Bennett's effort to work up patriotic fervor over the equal status of Canada with Britain—an issue long ago settled in actual fact to the satisfaction of everyone, and of course, with the assistance of the Baldwin government which, in 1926, was in office.

We cannot imagine what the average Briton will see to offend him in the legal fulfillment of Canada's status of equality. But we believe he will see something of real use, something to encourage him in these difficult times, in the Canadian government's generous offer of trade. Contrasting the two attitudes, the one oratorical, the other expressed in terms of dollars and cents, the average Briton will have no difficulty in distinguishing between them. Nor, we believe, will the average Canadian.

WHO DUG THE DITCH?

AT A TIME WHEN THERE IS A PROPOSAL to add to Victoria's charms it is difficult to understand why the civic authorities have permitted the digging of a ditch along that beautiful park area which skirts Beacon Hill. Visiting and local motorists now are unable to drive their cars to the edge of the cliffs, as thousands have been doing for years, to get an unobstructed view of one of the finest panoramas in the world.

The obstruction to which we refer, of course, literally closes this area to motorists. Either they now must park their cars along nearby streets, and walk the rest of the distance, or forego the enjoyment which this view affords them at nearly every season of the year. It would be interesting, indeed, to learn just why such an extraordinary plan has been carried out. It surely will not be suggested that the obstruction has been created to prevent persons driving their cars over the cliffs into the sea. No such accident has occurred within our recollection.

Since the city council makes an annual grant for publicity purposes, to which the merchants of the city contribute directly and indirectly, any policy which might in any way interfere with the enjoyment of tourists—to say nothing of our own people—should be avoided.

VINDICATING THE WOMAN DRIVER

THE WOMAN DRIVER FOR LONG HAS been the world's prize joke. No man, whatever his secret convictions, has ever been known to admit that his wife should really be allowed out alone with his car. Cartoonists have pictured women as continually in trouble with traffic policemen. Humorous writers have found an inexhaustible mine of material in this same idea that women, by some mysterious provision of Nature, were not made to drive automobiles. So firmly rooted has this theory become in the public mind that the news that it has been exploded at last is something of a shock. It was exploded by the National Safety Council of the United States, whose latest statistics show that although twenty-five per cent of the automobiles of the United States are driven by women, only six per cent of the total accidents involve women drivers.

It is further related that in Michigan automobile experts tested out the reaction of a large number of drivers to sudden emergencies, and found that women were much more rapid in responding to the needs of the moment than men. A group of college girls, indeed, completely out-performed a group of trained taxi drivers.

One more myth of male superiority thus seems shattered beyond repair, but if the Safety Council's figures are correct, this latest masculine defeat may be worth while after all. As more women are driving cars all the time, it should mean that accidents will show a corresponding decline.

Something of this sort may already be under way, the Safety Council believes. While the toll of accidents in the United States is constantly increasing, so is the number of cars; but the accidents, compared with the automobile population, are declining. In the last decade, the council finds, accidents have decreased about fifteen per cent in proportion to the number of cars on the road. They will have to decrease much more than this, however, if the reduction in accidents is going to balance the increase in cars. The automobile continues to be one of the deadliest weapons in our modern life.

Another interesting fact shown by the Safety Council is that, contrary to general belief, structural defects in automobiles are the cause of many accidents. Last year fifteen per cent of the 33,000 accidents recorded in the United States were due to such defects. But this is no reflection on the makers of automobiles, for it is stated that in almost every instance a structural failure is due to the neglect or misuse of the car. The best car may become dangerous if some vital part of it is allowed to wear out for lack of proper attention. Increased caution by owners in this matter would reduce the toll of accidents by a large number every year.

HE SPOKE FOR HIMSELF

At the inception of the debate, J. H. Woods of Calgary, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, gave the debate a dramatic turn by declaring that he did not think the system of preferential tariffs introduced by Canada and accepted by other portions of the Empire "will continue for any great period of time unless there is reciprocity on the part of the Mother Country."

THE ABOVE IS PART OF A RECENT dispatch from London reporting the proceedings of the Empire Chambers of Commerce.

We have been told that the views exchanged were marked by candor—plain speaking by no means unfriendly, but to the point—consequently it will not be out of place to suggest that perhaps Mr. Woods allowed himself to be overwhelmed to some extent by this frank atmosphere.

As an able journalist, a staunch Canadian—a thorough believer in the empire, familiar with the fact that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in 1897, instituted the British Preference without strings—the managing editor of the Calgary newspaper unquestionably recognized in his heart of hearts that as long as Canada's business shall be conducted by a Liberal government, the concessions at present enjoyed by the British exporter will not be interfered with by any system of bargaining, especially at a time like this, when the people of this country, more than at any time previously, insist that there shall be more buying and selling between the various countries that compose the British Commonwealth of Nations.

If, in its wisdom, the MacDonald government, or any government which may succeed it, thinks there should be some reciprocal arrangement with the Dominions under which their products would have an advantage in the British market, Canada, naturally, would be glad to accept it.

The Canadian people, however, are fully aware of the fact that if the commodities which Great Britain buys from this country are to be given an advantage in the United Kingdom, similar commodities in competition with our own would have to be taxed. This means that foodstuffs in Great Britain would cost the consumers more. No Liberal government of Canada would advocate any policy, which would add to the burden of the already heavily-tax-ridden people of the Mother Country.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

AN INQUIRY INTO INVESTMENT TRUSTS

The New York World

The State Bureau of Securities, attached to the Attorney-General's office, has sent out a questionnaire to the investment trusts operating in New York calling for a sworn report upon the nature of their transaction. This is a wise proceeding. The well-managed investment trusts have nothing to conceal from a bureau charged with safeguarding the interests of the investing public, and the poorly managed trusts should not be allowed to conceal anything.

THE LIBERAL PARTY AND THE EMPIRE

The Quebec Soleil

The accusation launched by the leader of the opposition that the Liberal government is sacrificing Canadian interests to Britain is false and untruthful. It is the government and its highly esteemed leaders, Messrs. King and Lapointe, who, at the Imperial Conference of 1926, obtained for us the autonomy in which we now rejoice. If we are no longer "colonial," but a distinct nation, having its own ambassadors, and its own foreign service, capable of signing its own treaties, and regarded as an equal by European nations, there is surely no thanks due to the Conservatives, who have done all they can to keep us in tutelage. And yet it is these same Conservatives who are now insisting that we are making tariff concessions to Britain without demanding anything in return, and declaring that we ought to shut our market to the nations of the empire so as to keep our dollars in the country.

ADVERTISING CONQUERS DEPRESSION

The Washington Post

Advertising can do much to stimulate business to its normal pace. The potency of the psychological factor in this depression is everywhere recognized. Wholesome, honest advertising can dispel the gloom and uncertainty that are disturbing the buying public. It is a powerful factor in business under any circumstances, but, in times of depression it assumes a role of special importance, transforming timidity into confidence by actually increasing the volume of business.

THE BRITISH PREFERENCE

The Sherbrooke Tribune

From 1914 to 1929 imports from "other British possessions" increased by $40,923,000, or 182.3 per cent, and those of "other countries" by $71,883,000, or 105.1 per cent, whilst exports to "other British possessions" from 1914 to 1929 increased by $29,908,000, or 54.5 per cent, and those to "other countries" by $297,830,000, or 1,007 per cent. A glance at these figures will help us to understand the significance of Mr. Dunning's new tariff.

Whoever is right, the persecutor must be wrong.—William Penn.

Loose Ends

Another prediction comes true—mankind finds it is too big for the world it has created—cricket suffers a lamentable decline—and Mr. Cuttelli reveals his secrets.

By H. B. W.

ONE OF the favorite predictions of this column, namely, that the human animal would have to adjust his slow to meet modern conditions, instead of adjusting modern conditions to meet his slow, has come true, which, considering where the prediction originated, is a notable indeed. It came true when the retail drapers of the United States, in conference recently in Chicago, solemnly decided that "in these days when space is so valuable, fat girls cannot be employed behind counters because they take up too much room." Human history, I submit, has produced no more remarkable tragedy than a poor girl dismissed from her livelihood because she doesn't fit behind the counter. Her only comfort will be that in sloughy staring to death she will become thin enough to get another job.

BUT THIS is only the beginning. The drapers have merely been bold enough to come out in the open and tell the truth about a matter which has been apparent to historians for a long time—to wit, if your modern girl is too large for the space behind a counter how is she going to fit into a modern apartment or bungalow? If the United States with its great open spaces, fatness in song and story, cannot hold the modern woman, what is going to happen to her in such congested areas as the British Isles? Happily there is a good deal of room for fat in Canada, but our hour of trial will come yet.

AS ONE editor sagely suggests, our race will witness the survival of the fittest, not the fittest, and perhaps, in a dim way, our womenfolk have realized this fact. Perhaps their present craze for slenderness is dictated by an instinct of self-preservation of which we had never dreamed. The public, if that be so, how cruel and ungrateful have we been in jesting at their diet, their exercises and their agonies of reduction, which now appear in their true light as a martyred attempt to fit themselves for the narrow world of the future! And as for us men, who have scorned these splendid efforts, well, if automobiles, roasts of beef, living rooms and bath-tubs, continue to grow smaller, we are going to find ourselves not only out of luck but out of everything else, because we shall be too big to fit into it. Thus, as another editor observes, strict control is the great need of our time.

IN THESE early days of the cricket season it is rather distressing to find from the records of history that the vigor of our race seems to have suffered a notable decline in modern times. When a cricket match lasts all afternoon and perhaps into the dusk of evening nowadays we consider it a tremendous feat of endurance—which it often is for the spectators. But according to figures which have just been dug up in the archives of British sport, we don't know what endurance is. In September, 1792, The Manchester Guardian has discovered, Middlesex began to play a Sussex team at Brighton in a game which was continued at intervals until May, 1793. In July, 1793, two teams opened a match in which stumps were not finally drawn until June of the following year. It is still more remarkable game part of the play was on the field, but most of it in the courts. In 1726, it is related, the men of Chingford took action against a Mr. Steed's eleven for refusing to play out a match in which the Chingford men had an advantage. The judge ordered the game to be continued and played to a finish. This was done and the last ball was bowled just two years after the first. In consideration for the spectators, I presume, tea was served to them in the interval.

IF THERE is less drawn in modern sport, there is more ingenuity. According to the same unimpeachable Manchester authority, this was proved the other day when the visiting Australian team toured Britain and visited Sheffield. There they were presented with steel-sharpened golf clubs. Now that seems innocent enough, but The Guardian sees in it a wily strategy which the Anglo-Saxon does not often achieve. It will be recalled, says this paper, that the Australians' success at cricket was attained largely by their ability to keep the ball on the ground when batting. The Sheffield people were not content to lament this propensity in an enemy team but, instead, set about correcting it, by encouraging the Australians to play golf where they were inflicting their destruction, for the safe stroke in one game is the accused thing in the other. It is too late now. The Guardian laments, but why didn't someone think of giving the visiting American golfers cricket bats as soon as they landed?

OFTEN I HAVE wondered at the technical perfection of the modern motion picture and tried to imagine how, with the advent of sound, all the noises of the better shows were produced. Lately in Hollywood appeared at least a partial explanation of this modern miracle. There one Giacomo Mammaglia Dei Conti Cuttelli advertised himself as the sound man of the sound pictures. He says he can produce the sound of the surging and breaking of five or six waves; the crying of babies; the even, scintillating coughing by age and illness; (a fine distinction which I fear I had overlooked in the past), as well as snoring and all kinds of screams. He can also imitate frogs (any kind), crickets, (seven species), flies of all kinds, bees, mosquitoes,

INSULIN AND DIABETES

To the Editor:—It was stated in the press a few days ago that Toronto would shortly celebrate the tenth anniversary of the discovery of insulin. This statement, however, is incorrect. The discovery of insulin is a matter entirely at the discretion of the editor. No responsibility is assumed by the editor for the preservation or return to the writers of communications submitted to the editor.

The Toronto Globe of February 3 last, contained a dispatch from New York which said that diabetes mortality had declined twenty per cent in Canada in 1929, as compared with the mortality in 1928. This statement was brought to the attention of a Dr. Louis I. Dublin, statistician of the Metropolitan Life, who, it is said, has pointed out an increased death rate in the United States during the same period. "The decline in the death rate has been particularly marked in the province of Ontario where insulin is distributed free to doctors having diabetes under treatment."

The statement has been the cause of a letter from J. B. Fraser M.D., of Toronto, appearing in The Globe, and dated March 3.

It was surprised to read an article in The Globe of February 3 in which an insurance statistician stated that the death rate from diabetes in Canada in 1929 was twenty per cent lower than in 1928. Our vital statistics report for Canada for the year 1929 has not yet been published, as it takes five or six months to tabulate the same, but a comparison will show little or no decline during the period covered by our preliminary report for 1929, as the following table shows:

DEATHS FROM DIABETES
1927—Toronto, 85; Ontario, 439;
Canada, 1,077, twelve months.
1928—Toronto, 83; Ontario, 438;
Canada, 1,081, twelve months.
1929—Toronto, 45; Ontario, 215;
Canada, 583, six months only.

Our statistics show that Ontario's

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY
THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES, JUNE 5, 1905

Weather Forecast—Victoria and Vicinity—Southerly winds, generally fair, and moderately warm.

United States Consul Hon. A. E. Smith has returned from Portland, where he attended the opening ceremonies of the big Lewis and Clark Exposition, which was concluded last Thursday.

The steamer Venture on Thursday night went ashore at new Bella Bella. The steamer was proceeding at slow speed when the accident happened and had got in too close to shore in the darkness.

The steamer Amur arrived yesterday afternoon from Skagway, Alaska. Weather conditions in the north were reported to be excellent.

Yayoi, the celebrated violinist, will not appear at the Victoria Theatre this season as was originally contemplated.

Once again the Victoria club went down to defeat, before the biggest team on Saturday at the Oak Bay Park, the score was six to one which gave a fairly good idea of the character of the contest.

The work of improving the local electric tramway system proceeds apace. At present long switches are being constructed on Work Street, just this side of the Point Ellice bridge and on the Esquimalt Road near the E. & N. Railway crossing.

INTERCOASTAL TRADE SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

Seattle, June 5.—Indications of "some slight improvement" in inter-coastal trade are current. Monte J. Wright of San Francisco, Pacific Coast manager of the Luckenbach Steamship Company, said here today. He is here on a business trip with H. M. Singleton of New York, general agent, superintendent of the Luckenbach line, who is on a tour inspecting the company's coast offices.

After two days of elaborate welcoming ceremonies in Tacoma, the new steamship Tacoma, the latest addition to the Pacific Coast-European fleet of the Hamburg-American line, arrived here yesterday. Seattle agents and shippers will be dinner guests aboard the ship here to-night.

"Innocents of Paris," which is showing to-day at the Coliseum Theatre. Chevalier is accepted as Europe's greatest entertainer and for many years has been the reigning king of the Folies Bergere, Femina and the Casino de Paris. For a time he was featured at the Palace musical hall, celebrated London theatre, where he played with Elsie Janis.

Chevalier's methods are entirely his own. Seldom does he do the same things in two successive performances, as his audiences will learn when they see "Innocents of Paris." In this production he sings "Valentine," a French

PLAYHOUSE OFFERS
DOMESTIC COMEDY
FOR REST OF WEEK

A hilarious all-talking comedy of modern married life is the current attraction at the Playhouse Theatre. It is "Personality," a Columbia production with Sally Starr, Johnny Arthur, Blanche Frederici, Lee Kohmar and John T. Murray. Victor Heerman directed the production.

The film is a depiction of modern married life with its novel situations, living characterizations and human interest touches that strike home because they are true. In addition there are situations that evoke gales of laughter—and others that bring tears because they are so human.

ZANE GREY STORY WITH DIALOGUE AT
DOMINION THEATRE

Bousing action, tense suspense, compelling romance, all combine to make "The Light of Western Stars," with Richard Arlen, great entertainment. Like "The Virginian," it is a master outdoor picture, filmed on authentic locations with every detail true to the historic background on which its characters act. "The Light of Western Stars" will show at the Dominion Theatre, starting to-day for three days.

This picture is the first Zane Grey story to be filmed with dialogue. In it, the he-man heroes and danger-defying women of the west step from the pages of the famous novel, act their gripping drama, and talk. Imagine the great Zane Grey pictures, "The Wanderer of the Wasteland" and others, with the true-to-life characters speaking the Zane Grey lines. "The Light of Western Stars" is the gripping story of the west in which the last desperate stand of banded outlaws on the U.S. frontier is authentically pictured.

"THE DEVIL BEAR"
OW SHOWING ON
COLUMBIA SCREEN

Louis Chaudet, who directed "The Devil Bear," at the Columbia Theatre to-day, is peculiarly fitted, both by temperament and training, to direct films. Years before Chaudet came to Hollywood to become one of the pioneer directors of silent pictures, he was on the dramatic and concert stage. Friends, who have watched his amazing professional career, declare that Chaudet, more than any Hollywood director, from the present comparatively unsettled production condition, will emerge as the foremost guiding spirit of films.

The ability of talking pictures to bring the greatest plays of the stage to the screen for all the world to see and hear is strikingly demonstrated at the Capitol Theatre to-day, Friday and Saturday, where Richard Dix's first radio starring film, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," is now having its local showing.

As the stage play produced on Broadway by George M. Cohan, this fast-moving melodramatic farce was deservedly popular. After playing in New York for an entire season, it went on the road for another year, playing in the major cities of the country.

And now Radio Pictures, through the miracle of the talking screen, presents "Seven Keys to Baldpate" in a manner that makes it even greater entertainment than the stage play.

"Irritable Heart" Is a Malady Rising From Nerve Disorders

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

Indeed, the condition was so common that the British Manual called the condition D. A. H. and under this name it appeared in numerous official reports. Symptoms of this disease had appeared frequently in people among civil life, but the World War served to focus special attention upon it.

As described by Dr. Marcus A. Rothschild, this condition is characterized by a sense of tiredness, breathlessness, dizziness, pain in the left side of the chest, general shakiness and increased susceptibility to cold; inability to fix the attention, insomnia, and a consciousness of the action of the heart. The person is inclined in general to be concerned with the way his heart is acting.

The most significant factor, of course, is fatigue. The person seems exhausted, particularly in the early part of the day, and is annoyed by the fact that he cannot seem to get going. After exercise the fatigue seems even worse.

Many of these patients faint easily, a sudden fright or shock sometimes being the cause of the sudden fainting spell. The period of unconsciousness lasts just a few seconds, but may last as long as five minutes. While a murmur of the heart is heard in many of these cases, Doctor Rothschild does not believe the heart is involved in the vast majority and he does not consider this a disease of the heart.

This is, in a great many instances, a nervous condition and must be handled from that point of view.

On the other hand, it is important to realize that if actual heart disease is present, it is of the greatest importance to recognize the heart disease and to treat the condition with the weakness of the heart in mind. Modern scientific medicine provides methods of testing the functional capacity of various organs and in the diagnosis of neurocirculatory asthenia a determination of the functional ability of the heart is important.

When the exercise tolerance of the patient is determined, it is possible to prescribe graduated work or games involving a sufficient amount of exercise to keep the patient in a healthful condition so far as the tone of his muscles is concerned. Over-fatigue must be prevented.

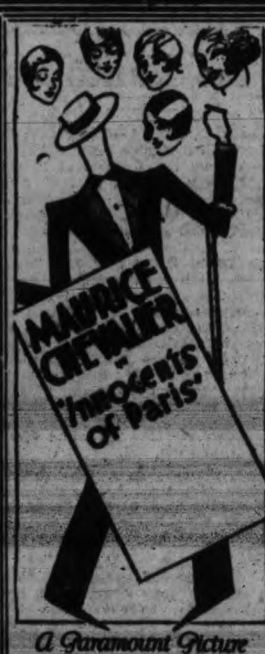

By the use of hot and cold baths, and by alternate heat and cold applied to the limbs, the patient can learn soon to respond properly to various temperatures. Proper posture and breathing exercises are important. Exercise followed by a cold rub and then a lukewarm bath or shower in the morning may get the person into excellent condition.

It is important for such people to develop confidence in their physical efficiency and to avoid the feeling of physical inferiority, which is the very basis in many instances of their illness.

CALL TO YOUTH MADE BY YOUNG LIBERAL WOMEN

Three Ottawa Girls Address Big Luncheon in Vancouver To-day

Say Principles of Liberalism Have Special Appeal to Young People

Vancouver, June 5.—Youth of the twentieth century received an appeal from three of their number today to join a great nationwide movement of young men and women, dedicated to the service of their country by the study and advancement of the principles of Liberalism. Under the auspices of the Lady Laurier Club, Miss Rosanna Stewart, Miss Margaret Heenan and Mrs. Douglas Blair of Ottawa, members of the original Twentieth Century Liberal Club, addressed a luncheon in the Hotel Georgia, at which the audience consisted in a large measure of the younger generation.

FEDERATED CHAIR
They urged the youth of Vancouver—those born since 1900—to form a Twentieth Century Club here in affiliation with the great federated chain that now constitutes the Twentieth Century Association.

"It is no accident that this movement on the part of young people to give expression to their growing political consciousness is a Liberal movement," said Miss Heenan.

"Youth's greatest attributes are energy and vision. Youth by its very nature is interested in progress and for that reason the principles of Liberalism must ever have an irresistible appeal to young people," she said.

HISTORY OF MOVEMENT
Miss Stewart, who is vice-chairman of the Twentieth Century Liberal Association of Canada, told the history of the movement. Five far-seeing and ambitious girls chatting after tea launched the idea less than a year ago. The Ottawa club which they established now has 109 members. The national association inaugurated its activities with a banquet at which 700 sat down in March. The fourteen Ontario clubs are having a provincial convention in Toronto to-day. Thus has the movement spread like wildfire, she said.

Miss Stewart was asked to take the lead in organizing a chain of clubs across British Columbia.

"The objects are to give an opportunity to young people to receive training in the conduct of political gatherings, to study the history of the people and resources of Canada, to acquire knowledge of their principles and ideals, and to develop their natural talents along the lines of writing, speaking and organization," she explained.

LOCAL COUPLE WED YESTERDAY

Miss Edna Graham Becomes Bride of Wm. Jackson at Belmont Church

At the Belmont United Church yesterday evening at 7:30 o'clock, the marriage of Edna, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. B. Graham of 444 Kingston Street, to Mr. William Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Jackson of 1431 Vining Street, was solemnized by Rev. James Hood, in the presence of a large number of friends.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage, the bride was smartly gowned in powder blue georgette, fashioned with a wide polka bonnet of silk mohair to match the gown, and carried a sheaf of bride roses and carnations.

Miss Edna Graham, sister of the bride, was the attendant bridesmaid, and wore a frock of maize and peach taffeta, made in bouffant style, and a white mohair hat. Her bouquet was a sheaf of pink pyrethrum and blue iris. Two little flower girls, the Misses Joan Graham and Evelyn Day, completed the bride's attendants and wore dresses of silk in frilly frocks of shell pink georgette and carried gold baskets filled with maize and pink sweet peas. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Harold Jackson, and the ushers were Messrs. Ronald Hurst and Charles McGregor.

A profusion of summer flowers adorned the church for the wedding. Miss Mae Hicks presided at the organ and played the wedding marches on the arrival and departure of the bridal party.

Following the service at the church, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 444 Kingston Street, where they were assisted in receiving their guests by Mrs. Graham, wearing a gown of brown and white tulle, and Mr. Jackson, who wore a frock of brown tulle with touches of silver. During the reception, the bride party stood beneath an arch from which was suspended a wedding ball. Throughout the home a color scheme of pink and maize was used in the floral decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson left on the midnight boat for Vancouver and will visit in the South cities prior to returning to Victoria, where they will make their home on Vining Street. Among the many handsome wedding gifts were china dinner service and a set of carvers from the employees at the warehouse of the Turner Boston Company, where the groom has been employed for the last twelve years, and a standard lamp from the employees at the Turner Boston factory, where the bride has been employed.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. James of Nanaimo and Mrs. Jones of Nanaimo.

FLORAL BOWER AT WEDDING AT FIRST CHURCH

Pretty Ceremony Unites Miss Jean Oldershaw and John J. McCreadie

Unusually beautiful floral decorations marked the wedding solemnized at the First United Church yesterday evening when Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., united in matrimony Miss Jean Oldershaw, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Oldershaw, 1260 McKennie Avenue, and Mr. John J. McCreadie, only son of the late Mr. A. and Mrs. McCreadie, of May Street, Victoria.

Four archways covered with early summer flowers in various tones of pink spanned the aisles and two arches of similar design and coloring were placed in front of the choir stalls. The ceremony was performed beneath a white wedding bell pendant from an arch of white flowers and flanked with tall standard baskets of pink wigs and greenery. The elaborate decorations were carried out by the Axioms under the direction of Miss Beattie Forbes.

BRIDE'S RETINUE
Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in her wedding gown of ivory satin, made on the fashionable long lines, her train of fine lace being attached to the Marie Antoinette collar at the back of the neck, and caught at the waist line with tiny rhinestone buckles on each side. Her veil of embroidered tulle was worn with a coronet of orange blossom in the form of a cap and she carried a shower bouquet of Opheles roses and ranunculus.

Miss Evelyn Wilson was maid of honor in a gown of orchid flat crepe cut in princess lines with a large bow at the back of the gathered waist. She wore a mohair hat to match, tied with velvet ribbon with long streamers which fell over one shoulder, and carried a bouquet of pink snapdragons and blue delphiniums. The bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Wilson and Miss Violet Overend, in sleeveless frocks of deep blue and white, the former in coral flat crepe and the latter in pale green, and mohair hats trimmed with flowers to match their dresses.

Both carried bouquets of white and pink roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Wilson and Miss Violet Overend, in sleeveless frocks of deep blue and white, the former in coral flat crepe and the latter in pale green, and mohair hats trimmed with flowers to match their dresses.

Mr. Robert Crawford supported the groom and the ushers were Mr. Charles Burr and Mr. Gordon Sward. During the ceremony Mrs. Arthur Dowell sang "Because."

RECEPTION HELD
Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the reception rooms being attractive with huge bowls of columbines and graceful palms. The bride and groom were assisted in receiving their guests by Mr. Oldershaw as a smart ensemble of deep blue blue radium lace with a platinum fur and a lace straw hat to match trimmed in front with velvet in mixed shades to tone and wearing a long string of pearls, and by Mrs. Oldershaw in a dress of royal blue crepe trimmed with cream lace, and a hat of blue mohair with touches of grey. Both wore corsage bouquets of tiny roses.

The three-tier wedding cake had the places of honor on the upper table with a large gardenia. On their return Mr. and Mrs. McCreadie will make their home at Cumberland. The out-of-town guests at the wedding included Dr. and Mrs. A. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. York, Mrs. Charles Prevost and Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Kerr, of Vancouver.

Old Dutch says:

Use Old Dutch—it is the safe, sure way to Healthful Cleanliness.

To be sure of Healthful Cleanliness the invisible impurities which are often a menace to health, must also be removed with the visible dirt.

This is what Old Dutch does; its particles possess natural detergent qualities—they erase the dirt and by a process similar to "adsorption" take up and carry away all impurities.

NATURAL EYES

Every day brings proof of the wonderful success of the latest forward step in the science of Optometry. The new technique is a "back to nature" movement. It develops the natural functions of the eyes by bringing visual coordination and comfort out of the neglected or overtaxed processes of vision.

Civilization is imposing unnatural stresses and imbalances, which require most accurate lens or muscle-innervational adjustments which the newer optometry alone can give satisfactorily. We are exponents of the newer methods.

Three Victoria Members of Bisley Team Leave For Empire Meet

Cream of High School Athletes Entered In Big Meet Here To-morrow

THE SPORTS MIRROR

THE TRADING of Larry Benton for John McGraw of a mighty strong contender for the National League pennant. The Giants now have what might be called the greatest infield in baseball, with Terry on first, Crite on second, Jackson at shortstop and Lindstrom at third. But it would just be McGraw's luck for Benton to win twenty games for Cincinnati, although the Giants knocked Larry from the box on Monday to win 9-1.

Mickey Cochrane, the famous catcher of the world champion Philadelphia Athletics, says he did not when he cracked that bone in his ankle going into third and that if he had hit the dirt right, he wouldn't have been put on the shelf. Maiming without their regular catcher the Athletics have been plugging patiently along, winning enough ball games to keep them at the top of the American League.

Mark Koenig may be through very soon as a ball player because of failing eyesight. He has been under the care of a specialist for months. Koenig is only twenty-six years old, but his eyes have been steadily growing worse.

As another shortstop goes back, another who went back comes up again—that is Glen Wright of the Brooklyn Dodgers. Wright's short-stopping this season has been one of the greatest factors in Brooklyn's climb from seventh position to the leadership of the National League. Uncle Robbie, Brooklyn manager, sits in his dugout telling all hands, "There's no one else, the greatest shortstop I ever laid eyes on."

"There ain't no more pitchers," is the wail of the big-league managers as the ball goes hopping over the garden wall. Ten runs no longer win a ball game. This year only five or six pleasing mound prospects have come to the majors. In the National League, Fred of Cincinnati, Seibald of Boston, and Hallahan of St. Louis seem the best. In the American League young Clint Brown of the Cleveland Indians and Gomes of the New York Yankees appear to have lasting virtues. But the other youngsters in both leagues thus far have been in and out.

Of all the holdouts in the major leagues this season, only four remain at this date: Outfielder Eddie Roush of the New York Giants leads the quartet. Pitcher Jimmy Cooney, of Boston is another. Then there is Fowler of St. Louis and Chet Nichols of Philadelphia are the others. These four of course have all been automatically suspended.

From the camp of Jack Sharkey at Orangeburg, N. S. and Schmelzing at Endicott, N. Y., the big guns are booming. The battle is on and from now until June 12, when the two clash at Yankee stadium, the barrage will increase in intensity. Sharkey has become a savage wolf in his den. Ploving into sparring partners with a snarling ferocity, and all that, you know. One writer from the day had his "blue eyes gleaming wickedly and his lips set in savage determination."

Another, writing of Jack's assault upon a sparring partner, says "for three minutes Jack played him, thumped him, and then from rope to rope, jabbing furious lefts into his face and fetching cruel left hooks to the body."

We have also the spectacle of Johnny Buckley, the Screaming Squires manager, shouting to him to please quit leaving the men to play. Upon which Sharkey tears out his rubber mouth-piece and snarls, "I'll do better if you leave me alone." Then, to top it all off, Sharkey, in fury, tells Buckley to "keep his mouth shut and pull the bell and he'll take care of the boxing," emphasizing his words with a blow on the back of the head which sends Buckley's chin into his chest. Oh dear, oh dear!

From Endicott comes stories of sparring partners refusing to enter the ring with Schmelzing after they had been abused in previous encounters. It seems Joe Jacobs had to go to New York every few days to dig up more brave men who would face the lethal punches of the German.

Another day all the newspapermen were assembled and a long distance call was put through to Max's mother in Germany. Max told her how he missed the sauerkraut, the way she used to fix it up. Very touching and all.

Over at Orangeburg, Benny Leonard tried to foment Jack Sharkey into a lead, but even the skill of the old lightweight master couldn't make Sharkey step into a punch. Sharkey was prepared for everything Leonard was ready for.

Sharkey is grouchy with the photog-raphers. Just why he should be grouchy with the photographers nobody knows. Maybe it's just his native ferocity. The camera boys ask him to pose and he snarls, "you guys are never posing when I'm sweating." A terrible man!

Both are terrible men, all the stories from the training camps can be believed. But quite often it is the reporters who are terrible. After all, they are the boys who aim and fire the big guns of ballyhoo.

England Proves to Be Strong Side in Test Match Trial Against The Rest

London, June 5.—Outstanding in yesterday's first-class cricket matches was the performance of Yorkshire in their game against Hampshire, at Bradford. The Yorkshiremen, batting first, were undefeated when stumps were pulled, having scored 478 for the loss of nine wickets. Robinson contributed 108, while Mitchell with 56 and Leyland with 87 were other batters to make good stands.

Kent vs. Essex, at Tunbridge Wells; Kent, 176; Essex, 66 for four wickets. Worcestershire vs. Nottinghamshire, at Worcester—Worcester, 122; Nottingham, 131 for three wickets. Surrey vs. Sussex, at the Kennington Oval—Sussex, 62; Surrey, 15 for five wickets. Middlesex vs. the Australians, at Lord's—Middlesex, 103; Australians, 128 for four wickets.

Cambridge University vs. Somerset, at Cambridge—Somerset, 302 for seven wickets. While the two-day game between England and The Rest, a test match trial, was left drawn, it showed England to be a strong aggregation. The score was: England, 275; The Rest, 138 for eight wickets.

Fifty Budding Track And Field Stars to Try For New Titles

Oak Bay and Victoria High Schools, as Well as Brentwood College and University School, To Be Represented in First Inter-high Meet Held Here; Victoria Figured to Gain Majority of Awards; Redmayne Expected to Win Half Mile for Oak Bay; Event to Start at Victoria High Grounds at 3.15 o'clock.

With the cream of senior schoolboy athletes competing, the first inter-high track and field meet ever held in Victoria will be staged at Victoria High School grounds to-morrow starting at 3.15 o'clock. Fifty of the best athletes in Brentwood College, University School, as well as Victoria and Oak Bay High will take part in the event which promises to eclipse any school meet ever held here as far as performances are concerned.

Champions from the different educational centres will be out in force in an attempt to uphold the honors of their different schools, and many good times are expected in the different events on the programme.

Judging from records made in recent meets, Victoria High School is expected to be the strongest contender in the field. However, in the half-mile event, Ivan Redmayne, crack Oak Bay boy, is counted on to carry off first honors, while Brentwood's representatives are comparatively unknown to local track men.

JUMP FAVORITE
Art Chapman, Victoria high champion, who recently took the titles in that division, with jumps of five feet, eight inches and nineteen feet, five inches in the high and broad classes respectively, is counted an almost sure winner in the high jump, and is figured the most likely contestant in the century and furlong dashes.

Although the athletes at University School failed to break any records at their sports meet on Tuesday, they will doubtless be in the running for some of the titles and will add greatly to the competition in the different events.

Brentwood remains a dark horse, with little known about the speed of its athletes.

In promoting the meet, Archie McKinnon, physical director of the local Y.M.C.A. has laid the foundation for what he hopes to see become a big annual event. In future seasons the executive in charge of the meet expects to see it develop into an island proposition, including all the senior or schoolboy schools nowward.

Entries for the different contests follow:

100 yards—W. McNeill and T. Todd, Brentwood; Chris. Usher and Don. Pangman, Oak Bay High; Northrop and McDonald, University; J. Petch and L. Patrick, Victoria High.

220 yards—G. Wilson and D. Stewart, Brentwood; John Gornall and Alan Taylor, Oak Bay High; Boyce and Hill, University School; L. Bapty and A. Bisher, Victoria High.

440 yards—D. Wootton and D. Stewart, Brentwood; John Gornall and Alan Taylor, Oak Bay High; Boyce and Hill, University School; L. Bapty and A. Bisher, Victoria High.

880 yards—P. Mitchell and W. Woods, Brentwood; Ivan Redmayne, Oak Bay High; Hager and Weaver, University; and W. Martin and V. Shoemaker, timekeepers: A. Stott, recorder: Archie McKinnon, starter.

Ownership of Sweep Ticket Upsets Family

New York Father and His Two Sons All Claim Hold on Army and Navy Ticket

The question is the ownership of the winning ticket. It was held in the name of Edward P. Dougherty, nineteen-year-old, twenty-week stock clerk in a brokerage house.

He stated, following a hurried return from a vacation trip, that a half interest belonged to him, twenty-four-year-old brother, Daniel D. Jr., but his father, Daniel D. Sr., a doorman at an apartment hotel, said his son sold him the ticket for $1.

The elder Dougherty was the first to hear the swift call, Blenheim, owned by the Aga Khan, had won the race. He at once announced that he would have a little more change to spend on his vacation. But Edward P. Dougherty, home from vacation, had scored in every season, with the four tickets he rushed up the three flights of stairs to the Dougherty apartment and shook hands enthusiastically with his father, greeted him as to who owned the ticket. Father and sons adjourned with their guests to the kitchen, explaining that the father had won the ticket, and with looks of mutual esteem on their faces they posed for a picture. As the last cloud of flashlight powder cleared to explain his luck.

"I bought the ticket," he stated. "You bought it for me," his father insisted, smiling.

"What do you mean, I bought it for you? Keep still. I'll tell you how it was. Danny bought a ticket and asked me to go home. Then I got a ticket and let him have half."

Schmeling Rests Up As Date of Bout Draws Near

Appears Tired and Listless In Action Against Hired Help

German Challenger for Heavyweight Honors Disappoints in Workouts Against Sparring Partners; Appears Too Finely Drawn; Lack of Fire and Dash May Have Been Due to Presence of Sharkey Scouts; Max Down to 187 Pounds for Bout on June 12.

Endicott, N.Y., June 5.—The hired help, belted miserable and bloody by Max Schmeling for the last two weeks, staged an insurrection yesterday and wound up with most of the honors in seven rounds of boxing with the German challenger for the heavyweight crown.

Tired and drawn, the clouting Teuton made a desperate effort to continue the slaughter of hapless sparring partners that has marked his daily workouts in preparation for the fifteen-round duel with Jack Sharkey in the Yankee Stadium, June 12.

The effort was too much, however, and though Max left his mark on the countenance of his assistants, he could not stow them away with his punishing right hand. They wound up as fresh as he was and it was decided to rest Schmeling for the next two days. He will complete his heavy training with boxing drills Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Schmeling looked listless and too finely drawn for the stage of the training grind, but his lack of fire and dash was attributed by his handlers to the presence in camp of scouts for the rival forces. At any rate, Der Max was off his game.

Lou Barba, a New York heavyweight, his Schmeling with left jabs, Sharkey's favorite weapon, as well as left hooks, to the head and side. Lou added a short right cross for good measure and Max looked none too good when it landed.

Barba was the first man in two days to finish his designated two rounds in complete possession of faculties, although Max made him miss widely at times and scored with his own left hooks and right cross. There seemed little pep behind the punches, however.

Max did little better with Frankie Bush, a light heavy, in two rounds and seemed to take advantage of every opportunity to rest.

After a listless round with Jack Shaw, who seemed to be suffering from the bad beating Max gave him yesterday, Umberto Torriani, a 215-pound Italian novice, topped the uprising by belting Schmeling several times with solid right crosses.

Torriani barely was able in the past to stand up for a full round before Schmeling's short, head punches, but he finished two rounds yesterday, gory, but triumphant.

Although Schmeling's weight has not been announced, he appears under 187, his best figure.

EDDIE TOLAND

WHO IS THE LATEST OFFICIAL HOLDER OF THE TITLE "THE WORLD'S FASTEST HUMAN"

The Amateur Athletic Federation of the World has declared another new speed title. This time the honors go to Eddie Toland, the colored filer of the University of Michigan, and Eddie's new time for the 100 yd. dash is 9.5 for 100 yards, or in other words, we have another world's fastest human. The sprinter from Michigan won his spurs at the Big Ten championships, Evanston, Ill., on May 25, 1929, and this performance was accepted by the International Federation. Former official holders were Cyril Coafes, Canada, Charlie Paddock, Chester Bowman, D. J. Kelly and H. P. Drew of the United States, and the former time was 9.6 seconds.

Ferry Williams met Eddie and the rest of the gang at the Olympics and gave them an eyeful of cinders. Charlie Paddock says that Perry Williams is the world's greatest competitive runner. Or in other words, racing against the clock and racing against competition are two different things. Williams has been in retirement for some time but it is understood that he is by no means becoming stale for lack of training, so that by the time the British Empire games roll around there may be a new song to sing about the 100-yard event.

replay the round on the following day. Many of those returning high scores in the rpn availed themselves of the opportunity and improved their positions by replaying the inundated route, while those who were satisfied retained the scores of the previous day.

NO OPTION SHOULD BE GIVEN

Often a golf course does become unplayable for one reason or another, and under such conditions play should, of course, be called off. But, if this becomes necessary it seems to me that all scores should be thrown out leaving no option to any of the competitors. It may be unfortunate that one person is about to play in a rainstorm while another with whom he is competing enjoys good weather, but as long as the course is playable, such a circumstance remains only one of the breaks of the game. Undoubtedly a break of this kind has turned more than one championship. But I shudder to think what would be the job of the tournament committee if it should assume the task of equalizing playing conditions for all competitors.

At Winged Foot last year the same problem arose. The morning dawned fair and calm. Competitors who were awarded early starting time played their rounds in fair and propitious weather. About 2 o'clock the rain started to come down in torrents and continued most of the afternoon. Every green was flooded and all the cups were under inches of flowing water. Conditions were so bad that Tommy Armour left the second green to come over to me, so I was leaving the fifth, to ask what I thought about requesting a rain delay. A. B. Plummer took the quarter mile, with A. B. Ritchie a close second.

Doug Bone, the erstwhile "flying ace" of the local police force, was only able to take third place. R.M.E. Dauntless triumphed in the tug-of-war competition, the Royal Marines of the ship taking the men's event, while the boys, the same boat took the junior contest.

Several other races, including sprints for children, were greatly enjoyed by competitors and spectators alike. Results follow:

KILMARNOCK BEAT "REPS" BY 7-0 COUNT

Touring Scottish Football Eleven in Easy Victory Over Western Football Club

Eastern Fans Thrilled By Flashy Play of Visitors; Ramsay and Cunningham Star

Canadian Press
Kitchener, Ont., June 5.—Playing a team representing Kitchener and vicinity, the Western Football Club, Kilmarnock retained their unbeaten record on their present Canadian tour. The Scottish soccerites were much too experienced for their local adversaries, and rained home seven goals while holding the locals scoreless.

Despite the one-sided score the home talent put up a stubborn opposition with the aid of the team being the goal, C. Snider, who was bombarded with shots from all angles and of every variety.

Devere at centre, and Parks, outside left for the tourists, also showed to advantage, inaugurating some good offensive plays, only to have them broken up on the bulwark of the Kilmarnock defence.

HAVE GALA DAY
Ramsay and Cunningham for the tourists had a field day. Each scored three goals, putting the finishing touches to flashy plays that had the 2,500 fans wildly enthusiastic. Walters, the outside right, scored the other goal, shot from the wing.

Altkan, outside left for the tourists, was slightly injured, and had to retire just before half time. He left for Buffalo to-day to attend his sister's wedding.

Harold Ballantyne, captain of the western team, is an ex-member of the Kilmarnock club. He played for them as an amateur in the season of 1912-13. The teams follow:

Kilmarnock—Clemie, Nibloe and Leslie, Irvine Stewart and McEwen, Walters, Wales, Cunningham, Ramsay and Altkan.

Western Football Club—Snider, Palit and Carson Maynard, Ballantyne and Whitley, Devere, Parks, Wilson, Fisher and Pugh.

Referee—Jack Clark of Stratford.

PORTEOUS WINS MAJOR TITLE IN SAILOR'S SPORTS

Captures Royal Navy and Royal Canadian Navy Aggregate Cup For High Scorer

Close to 2,000 See Athletes Compete in Events; Dauntless Wins Tug-of-war

Before close to 2,000 spectators, athletes of the Navy and City Police Force demonstrated their speed at the annual track and field meet held at the Naval Barracks yesterday.

Lieut. Porteous, Boy Holmes and Boy Harbord took major honors in the meet, the former capturing the half mile and shot putt, besides taking second place in the 120-yard hurdles and the officers' race. By virtue of these victories he annexed the Royal Navy and Royal Canadian Navy Cup donated by H. Maynard.

Holmes captured the aggregate cup for members of the Royal Canadian Navy under twenty-three years of age. He finished second in the half-mile and third in the mile.

Harbord led the field in the boys' open 220 yards, while Boy Turner of the H.M.S. Dauntless, finished second. A. B. Stagg flashed to victory in the 100 yard dash, with L. Plummer on his heels and P. O. Raymond third. A. C. Plummer took the quarter mile, with A. B. Ritchie a close second.

Chicago Cubs Hit Batting Stride and Enjoy a Gala Day

Crash Out Twenty Hits, Including Six Doubles, Triple and Two Home Runs, to Trounce Boston 18-10; Brooklyn Makes Nine Errors to Throw Away Game to Pittsburgh; Three American League Fixtures Go Extra Innings; Athletics and Washington Both Win.

Dan Howley, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, has become one of the leading experimenters of the National League as well as one of its leading traders. He has prospects of good results if he can mold the material he now has into a co-ordinated baseball team.

Howley shook up his line-up again yesterday, putting Pat Crawford in the line-up and making Bob Meusel lead off. The result was good enough to produce fourteen solid hits, but not a victory. Their opponents, the New York Giants, got but twelve blows, yet gained an 8 to 5 victory.

Chicago Cubs trounced Boston Braves 18-10. The Cubs hit twenty times for thirty-four bases, getting six doubles. A triple and two homers and gave Harry Siebold and his two successors a bad time of it.

Brooklyn literally threw away a game to Pittsburgh Pirates by a 12-6 score. The Robins made eight errors. This result left the Pirates only a game behind the St. Louis Cardinals, who lost the day's only mound duel in the National League to Philadelphia.

2-1. Ray Benge gave the Cards only four hits, Chick Hefey's homer bringing the one run.

EXTRA INNING GAMES
Of the American League's four battles, three went ten innings. The leading Philadelphia Athletics beat out the St. Louis Browns, 4-3, in the only nine inning contest as Sam Gray lost his ninth straight game.

Washington, in second place, scored three runs in the tenth to beat out Detroit Tigers, 11-8. Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees remained in third and fourth place respectively, the victims of upsets. The Yankees dropped an 8-7 decision to Chicago White Sox. Babe Ruth tied the count in the seventh with his eighteenth homer of the year.

Ed Morris of the Boston Red Sox proved better in the long run than Willis Hudilla of Cleveland and gave Boston a 5-4 victory in another ten-inning duel.

DR. F. BAIRD PRESBYTERIANS' MODERATOR

Pictou, N.S., Pastor Elected
Moderator of Assembly;
Sessions in Hamilton

Hamilton, Ont., June 5.—Rev. Dr. Frank Baird of Pictou, N.S., was elected Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada at the opening of its annual meeting here last night.

The only other contestant for the moderatorship was Rev. Dr. S. Banks Nelson of Hamilton, pastor of Knox Church, in which the assembly is meeting.

Several speakers said the Maritime Provinces had not had a moderator since the disruption of the church at the time of church union in 1925, and it was now time to fill the highest office in the church with a man from the east. Although other people claimed they "won the war" for the maintenance of the Presbyterian Church as a separate entity, Rev. Dr. P. G. McQueen of Edmonton, said it was Dr. Baird who started the fight and carried it through to a successful conclusion.

Dr. Nelson was described by his nominator, Rev. Robert Johnston of St. Catharines, Ont., as a happy warrior who carried the battle into the foe-men's camp and forgave his opponents as quickly as he vanquished them. No man, he said, had done more for the rights of self-determination and independence of the church than Dr. Nelson.

Since last year's meeting of the General Assembly, the moderator then elected, Rev. Dr. David Ferrie of Wingham, Ont., died. In the absence of a moderator the proceedings of the Fifty-sixth Assembly were opened with a sermon by Rev. Dr. John Buchanan of Toronto, a former moderator and missionary in India.

NEW HALIBUT PACT AWAITS CONFIRMATION

Commission Plans to Continue Efforts For Conservation

Propose to Extend Closed
Season By Two More Weeks

Referring to the new Halibut Treaty signed by Canada and the United States in Ottawa, May 9, 1930, and ratified by Parliament in Ottawa on May 28, J. P. Babcock, Assistant Fisheries Commissioner for British Columbia, and chairman of the Halibut Commission, says:

"The new treaty, if ratified in Washington, D.C., which is anticipated, will supplant the present treaty, which was ratified in 1923 and which has been in effect since that year.

"Under the new treaty the existing commission, as at present constituted and known as the International Fisheries Commission, will be continued."

"Article I extends the closed season from the first day of November to the fifteenth day of February—an extension of two weeks."

"Article III provides that for the purpose of protecting and conserving the halibut fishery of the North Pacific Ocean and Behring Sea, the commission, with the approval of the Governor-General of Canada and the President of the United States may, in respect of the nationals and inhabitants and fishing vessels and boats of Canada and the United States, from time to time:

"(a) Divide the convention waters into areas.

"(b) Limit the catch of halibut to be taken from each area.

"(c) Fix the size and character of halibut fishing appliances to be used therein.

"(d) Make such regulations for the collection of statistics of the catch of halibut, including the licensing and recording of vessels, as will enable the International Fisheries Commission to determine the condition and trend of the halibut fishery by means and areas, as a proper basis for protection and conserving the fishery.

"(e) Close to all halibut fishing such portion or portions of an area or areas as the International Fisheries Commission finds to be populated by small immature halibut.

FOR FIVE YEARS

Article V provides that the treaty shall remain in force for five years and thereafter until two years from the date when either of the high contracting parties shall give notice to the other of its desire to terminate it.

"From the above it will be noted that the new treaty extends the present closed season by two weeks; empowers the commission to regulate fishing within prescribed limits, and then only with the approval of the Governor-General of Canada and the President of the United States; and to license the fishing vessels for the purpose of obtaining adequate statistical records of the fish caught and the banks or areas from which the fish are taken.

"The new treaty follows closely the recommendations made to the two Governments in the reports of the commission of 1928.

PENALTIES FOR VIOLATION

"Following the treaty's ratification in Washington, the commission can take no action until Parliament and Congress have passed such enabling legislation as may be necessary to make effective the provisions of the treaty and any regulations adopted thereunder, with appropriate penalties for violations thereof. We have not yet been advised that Parliament passed an enabling act, or that one has been introduced in Washington.

"It is the declared intention of the commission to follow the practice inaugurated and followed since its organization, of, at all times, acquainting all concerned in the fishery of the nature of the evidence collected and the significance attached thereto. No action will be taken by the commission in the way of regulation until after public hearings have been held at which the matter has been fully discussed and the views of the industry obtained. In other words, precipitate action will not be taken and no regulations made to take ef-

Square blade ends

Easier and safer to handle

MOST men like fishing—but not fishing down the drain-pipe for a slippery razor blade. That's one of many reasons why a vast army of men are praising the New Gillette Blade. Its square ends can't slip out of soapy fingers, and how easily the new blade reaches into the tight little corners around the mouth, nose and ears!

There are so many other big improvements that you won't appreciate them all until you try this New Gillette Shave yourself. Here are just a few: No more wiping or drying of parts. New blade resists rust. "Razor pull" is banished forever by new reinforced corners of razor cap and cut-out corners of blade.

Sounds almost impossible to give you all this remarkable new shaving comfort for only one dollar, doesn't it? Yet your dealer has your New Gillette Razor set waiting for you—your choice, in fact, of five styles of handsome cases. Additional new blades are priced at one dollar for ten and fifty cents for five.

Enjoy this new shaving thrill tomorrow morning by seeing your dealer on your way home tonight.

The New Gillette Shave

From the beginning it has been recognized that the governments have no other concern than to perpetuate the halibut fishery; that no action which will unduly hamper the fishermen must be taken until after it is fully manifested that such action is vital to the preservation of the fishery and the fishermen fully informed of the need for such action. This is essential from the fact that such regulations as may be made must be recognized as more or less experimental. No one at present can say positively just what effect any regulation may have. We must experiment in order to determine the effect of any regulation—must try it out to get knowledge of the effect on the fishery as a whole. That, however, does not altogether apply to the closing of certain well defined areas that are now known to be populated only by immature baby halibut. Two of these nurseries, as the fishermen first termed them, have been well defined. At the commission's public hearings in Ketchikan, Prince Rupert, Vancouver and Seattle, the fishermen to a unit advocated their closing and the commission so recommended. It is probable that this will be the first action taken under the new treaty."

U.S. AND MEXICO IN DAVIS CUP TILT

It was a dizzy pace that George M. Lott Jr. set in the first singles match of the final American Zone Davis Cup tie, pictured above, at Chevy Chase, Md., when he swiftly defeated Ignacio de la Borbolla of Mexico, 6-0, 6-0, 6-0. Next are Fritz Eugene Dixon, left, captain of the United States Davis Cup team, and Manuel Llano, right, captain of the Mexican team. The winning team was to be qualified to meet the winner of the European zone final, probably in France.

FIFTY YEARS OF CONSTANT ENTERPRISE

HE SERVES YOU ON THE SEA

If you asked this man to name his work, he would hardly know what to say. He is a sailor. But he is also an oil man. And he likes both jobs.

He is one of the hard-muscled chaps who man Imperial Oil's ships. He spends his days at sea, but he is as much a part of Imperial Oil as the service station man who wipes your windshield.

Imperial Oil has a fleet of great ships, including the largest tank-ship in the world. It has them because, in South America it established dependable supplies of petroleum for Canadian use. Its ships bring this crude to Imperial refineries in Canada.

For the fifty years since it began, Imperial Oil has been meeting the changing needs of transportation and industry.

Because each new need has been met with new effort and perfection, Imperial has become a part of the country's progress—caches for Arctic airmen—supply depots for the mines—branches across the prairies—service stations in every city and town—nine thousand men in its refineries, on its ships, in its laboratories, at its wells.

Fifty years of constant enterprise are in the products Imperial Oil sells today.

Marvelube is Imperial's finest motor oil.

Imperial 3-Star and Imperial Ethyl are its best gasolines.

Which means that nothing finer can be put in your car.

All-water Route For Silk Gains On Rail Lines

Increasing Shipments of Raw Silk Brought in From Japan by Empress Liners Now Being Forwarded to New York Via San Francisco and Panama Canal; Time Not Important Factor With Market Weak.

In the transshipment of raw silk from the Orient to New York, the all-water route by way of the Panama Canal is now more actively competing with the rail system for the business.

The intercoastal shipment of Japanese silk was first noticed with the arrival of the C.P.R. liner Empress of Asia on May 17, when a consignment of 500 bales of raw silk were put ashore here for transshipment by water to New York.

When the liner Empress of Canada reached port last Friday she landed here a shipment of 700 bales of raw silk for the water route to New York.

In both instances the silk was placed aboard the steamship Ruth Alexander, of the Pacific Steamship Company, and sent on from this port to San Francisco, where it was transferred to a vessel of the American-Hawaiian line and forwarded to New York via Panama.

The Empress of Russia, which is expected to reach Victoria June 21, also has a shipment of raw silk for the coastal route.

TESTING NEW ROUTE

The indications are that the Panama route is being tested out with a view to larger shipments being forwarded to the Atlantic coast by water in the future.

In the past, time has been the chief factor in the delivery of raw silk from the countries of the Orient to the silk mills of New Jersey. Special trains have awaited the arrival of the silk ships at waterfront and rail hauls of about four days have been the vogue.

RAYON COMPETITION

Time is not the factor that it used to be as the silk market is weak and rayon is making big inroads into the business.

By the water route, it is said, the raw silk can be forwarded at half the rate and delivery is made in ten days. The new silk development is being interestingly followed in transportation circles.

Trains are still carrying silk overland, but the shipments have been dwindling to some extent in recent weeks.

WILL DIVERT SUBSIDY SHIPS TO FAR EAST

H. R. MacMillan Says Government Will Permit Transfer of Vessels

Australia Is Overstocked With Lumber, According to Exporter

Vancouver, June 5.—Because the Australian lumber trade is now stocked for the next six months, and it would be embarrassing to customers there to offer them any further supplies, the Dominion Government has consented to a diversion of the ships of the Australia-British Columbia service, it is announced by Mr. H. R. MacMillan, who has just returned from the east.

For the next two or three months the A-B.C. service will lead for China, with the approval of the government. This does not mean any addition to the present subsidy, and does not mean the Australian line has not been satisfactory, Mr. MacMillan said. It is merely a sane action, to allow a proper absorption by the market.

"During the first ten months of the service," Mr. MacMillan said, "the quantities of lumber taken by Australia from British Columbia more than doubled that taken during the preceding ten months."

"After seeing that there was six months' stock there, and desiring not to accentuate the situation, we decided to lay off temporarily and the government has permitted the diversion of the sailings to include China. No one will suffer, and the Australian service will be resumed and continued."

Speaking of the British West Indies service, Mr. MacMillan stated that the extension granted by the Dominion Government now permits the line to include British Guiana and Jamaica, which will open new markets for British Columbia. Thus far the Vancouver-B.W.I. service, established three years ago, has resulted in a steady trade in flour, lumber, fish and other articles from this Province and has made a trade which has pleased the government, and been beneficial to British Columbia industries.

"The extension allowed by the government, which is an increase of $2,000 a year, now permits the line to cover all of British West Indies. The previous subsidy was $3,000 a ship."

PRINCE GEORGE FIRST SHIP OF YEAR TO ALASKA

Canadian National Steamer Will Sail From Vancouver on Monday For Skagway

Capt. Neil McLean Will Be in Command of Vessel This Summer

Vancouver, B.C., June 5.—The first steamer to leave for Alaska this summer is announced by B. C. Keely, Pacific Coast manager of the Canadian National steamships. This service will be opened on Monday evening next when the steamer Prince George will leave for Skagway, Alaska, under command of Capt. Neil McLean in command. The following Monday, the steamer Rupert will go into this service, and throughout the summer season there will be a sailing every Monday evening.

In addition to this, commencing on Thursday, July 3, the steamer Prince Henry will go into service, and bring the fastest boat in the service along the coast.

This mailboat service will make a trip every seven days. The Prince Henry is the first of the new ships to be constructed in England for the Canadian National steamships Pacific Coast service, and is now on its way to this port under command of Capt. Gilbert. At San Pedro de San Francisco, the steamer will be turned over to the veteran commodore of the Pacific Coast fleet, Capt. Dan Donald, who will assume permanent command.

When the Alaska service is opened the usual stop will be made at Powell River, Ocean Falls, Prince Rupert, Ketchikan, Juneau, Wrangell and Skagway.

Mr. Keely states that both the Rupert and the George have been completely recommissioned during the winter, and will start out on their summer season with new furnishings, and every comfort available.

According to George McNeill, general passenger agent, the summer bookings have been quite satisfactory, and much additional interest has been shown in the bookings for the Prince Henry, indications being that first trip will be made from Vancouver with a capacity passenger list.

SAILORS LEAVE ESQUIMALT FOR PORTSMOUTH TO TRAIN

Detachment of Forty-four Men Left Here To-day in Charge of C. P. O. Raven

Some May Return to Naval Base as Part of Destroyer Skeena's Complement

In charge of Chief Petty Officer F. Raven, a party of forty-four Canadian sailors left the Esquimalt naval barracks this afternoon and proceeded by the C.P.R. boat to Vancouver en route east.

Members of the detachment will visit their homes in various parts of Canada and some will return here to leave with another party posted to sail June 27 for Montreal. The squad of Canadian sailors will sail from Montreal July 3 by the liner Metagama, and will be assigned to the Portsmouth naval depot on arrival in England.

The navy boys will receive training on board vessels of the British navy and some may return to Esquimalt as part of the complement of the Canadian destroyer Skeena, which, together with the Saguenay, is nearing completion at the Thornycroft plant at Southampton.

She will be followed in the Victoria service by the liner Korea Maru, sister ship to the Siberia Maru, which is scheduled to reach this port from Yokohama June 25.

The Yokohama Maru, Mr. Hebb states, has seven first cabin and sixteen third class passengers for Victoria, and will arrive here on Tuesday, June 11, at 10 a.m.

The local cargo on board the ship totals 250 tons and includes thirty bales of raw silk and sixty-six packages of manufactured silk goods.

Little English Boy Was Sorry He Ran Away
Little Adam Smith had been warned not to go away from the house. He was scolded every time he opened the gate and wandered off on to the road.

One bright day, Adam forgot about the scoldings, opened the gate, and trotted away across the meadow to the road. There was no one in sight to see him go. Then around the bend in the road came a wagon.
The wagon stopped, and several pairs of eyes looked down at Adam.
The owners of the eyes had dark faces and were dressed in bright clothes. They were gipsies, but Adam didn't know what gipsies were.

"They asked him if he wanted to ride,
and he thought that was a fine idea,
so they picked him up and put him in the wagon. They rode on and on, and soon Adam began to want his mother.
He didn't like the strange, dark people.
He cried and cried.

When the gipsies heard horses galloping after them they became frightened, and put him down by the road.
He was very glad when, a short while afterwards, his father found him. He never wandered away again.

Lindbergh Event
Keeps Mrs. Morrow
Off the Platform

Newark, N.J., June 5.—The Republican Senate election in New Jersey for the next few days will be without one of its most picturesque campaigns.

Because Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow wants to remain near her daughter, Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, who expects soon to become a mother, has addressed to-day to a group of women in southern New Jersey probably will be her last for a week or ten days.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh are at the Morrow home in Englewood. It was announced at the ambassador's campaign headquarters that for the next few days Mrs. Morrow would make no campaigns that would take her far from Englewood.

Col. Lindbergh is remaining almost constantly with his wife. He has not flown for several days. He recently arranged for hangar space for his airplane at the Newark airport.

Massey Is Honored As He Leaves Post In U.S.

Tributes Paid at Pilgrims' Dinner in New York to Work of Minister Who Will Go to London

Canadian Press
New York, June 5.—"The leave-taking of Hon. Vincent Massey as Canadian Minister to the United States is a very sad occasion in which our whole country is concerned," William Phillips, former United States Minister to Canada, told the Pilgrims of society of the United States at a farewell dinner held last night in honor of Mr.
Massey, who will soon go to London as Canadian High Commissioner in Great Britain.

Mr. Phillips was not alone in his expression of regret at the impending departure of Mr. Massey. Dr.
Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the Pilgrims, and president of Columbia University, and James W.
Gerald, former United States Ambassador to Germany, joined with him in declaring the transfer of Mr. Massey a regrettable incident for both countries. At the same time they wished him well in his new office.

Mr. Massey, making his farewell speech here as Canadian Minister, dwelt on the growth of contact between the two countries, and the understanding with the people of the two neighboring countries.

When the gipsies heard horses gal-
loping after them they became frightened, and put him down by the road.
He was very glad when, a short while afterwards, his father found him. He never wandered away again.

BIG WIRELESS CENTRE OF NEW SYSTEM

THROUGH RUGBY
The result of establishing a wireless telephone link between Rugby and New York, he said, was that a telephone subscriber in Vienna could speak to a subscriber in Montreal, providing the message passed through Rugby, and a subscriber in San Francisco could speak to a subscriber in Stockholm, again providing the message went through Rugby.

"We have quietly and unostentatiously obtained for this country a most important position in the long distance telephone service of the world," he said.

COMPETITION DESCRIBED
The various companies of United States cable companies and their determined bid to establish a dominant position in world communications was emphasized in the speech of Sir Basil Blackett, chairman of the Imperial and International Communications Limited. This company is the cable and wireless merger which owns intra-empire cables and leases the British beam stations.

EFFORT TO BAR EVIDENCE AT TRIAL FAILS

Following lengthy argument between
Mr. McGillivray and Mr. McLeod Sinclair for the prosecution, Mr. Justice Ives ruled the evidence was admissible. He said "it would appear such evidence should be given for the protection of the public, in whose interest the act was framed."

"Acceptance of evidence secured by agents of the Attorney-General's Department under the cloak of investigation for the public good certainly would constitute a radical departure from recognized rules of criminal jurisprudence," said Mr. McGillivray "and it is revolting that evidence secured in this way should be made use of in proceedings."

TAKEN BY FORCE
Mr. McGillivray contended the whole scheme of the Security Frauds Prevention Act was to secure private information by secret means for the use of the state. Evidence thus secured, he said, was taken indiscriminately and by force and individuals or firms were denied any rights at all in the matter.

Following the reading of sections of the act, Mr. Sinclair also cited similar legislation in Ontario and urged the need of uniform legislation in all the provinces. He stated he and his associates in the prosecution had received the authority of the Attorney-General of Alberta to use the information obtained in this way in the present trial.

MANUFACTURERS
NAME DAVIS AS
NEW PRESIDENT

Toronto, June 5.—Elmer Davis of Kingston, Ontario, to-day was elected president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association for the ensuing year. Other officers are: First vice-president, W. H. Turner, Granby, Quebec; second vice-president, W. G.
Souter, Toronto; treasurer, T. P.
Mosey, Toronto.

By an order-in-council signed by the Governor-General to-day, coal mined in the Crown's Nest Pass district of British Columbia and in the Nitimicus and sub-bituminous areas of Alberta, and shipped to points in the province of Manitoba, will be subject to a reduction of freight rates which will enable it to compete with United States coal.

The assistance to the industry will be in a ton, effective for one year, and Canadian bituminous coal will be subsidized by the Federal Government announced to-day by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior.

Another order-in-council will give assistance of fifty cents a ton on brickets and lignite coal in carbonized form mined in Saskatchewan and shipped to Manitoba. This reduction is applicable only when the brickets are used for domestic or industrial purposes. It will apply for one year, commencing June 1.

The administration of these assisted movements of coal will be under the direction of the Dominion Fuel Board.
Regarding the British Columbia and Alberta coal, it was announced the rate of reduction would apply only if the coal has less than twelve per cent moisture and a coloring value of more than 11,000 British thermal units a pound in the raw state.

WILL CUT COSTS
"This assistance," declared the Minister of the Interior, "is in line with the government's policy of giving every encouragement to Canadian products and industry. It will result in lower costs to the consumers, and will, it is believed, do much to relieve the current situation, where miners are working only a few hours a week."

OAK BAY CLOSING DISPUTE OVER TEACHING STAFF

The question of the necessity of increasing the staff of the school, in order to take charge of two factions, those taking four years and those hoping to get through in three, was brought up. It was generally felt that unless an unusually large number present staff would be all that was required.

When asked for advice on the matter, Mr. Billings stated he was in favor of the four-year system, but realized that either would meet with opposition from the parents of the children.
It was pointed out that the age of the average graduate would be increased one year by the four-year course.

OBJECTED TO INCREASE
In view of this fact Trustee Murray felt that the system was unfair. He also noted that the various certificates granted to the person who did not complete the longer course would make it difficult for him to return to school to continue his education. He urged securing his secondary school graduation diploma. Consequently such a person would lose one year if he wished to go on with the shorter course.

Chairman E. M. McGowan suggested that circular letters be sent out to the different parents of high school children in the district to gain a general knowledge of the sentiment toward the two different alternatives. But upon hearing pointed out that Mr. Billings would report back to the board with his motion to that effect until a later date.

CONFERENCE PLAN FAILS
Hopes for the projected October conference to settle troubles in India were characterized as vain in some quarters today. Lord Irwin, viceroy, was stated to have been opposed to a man with an Indian-European reputation for caution and honesty "that it was useless to discuss a conference in the present state of affairs."

From Simla, summer capital, it was reported Lord Irwin had received a deputation of thirty Punjab Moslem chiefs, who were stated to have commended Moslem activities throughout India in refusing to join in disturbances, and to have asked the Punjab residents to co-operate with the government in maintaining order in the empire.

AFRIDS DEFEATED
An attempt of Afrids, warlike Afghans, to advance on Peshawar, at the Indian end of the Great Khyber Pass in the northwest, was repelled by troops to-day. The area had been quiet for some time, following British air expeditions against the wild tribes.

VETERANS ASK LOTTERY RULES

Nelson, B.C., June 5.—A resolution passed at yesterday afternoon's session

Relieve

NEEDLESS PAIN

Headaches
Colds
Rheumatism
Neuritis

TAKE a tablet of Aspirin, and your suffering from headache ceases. It relieves promptly. It does not depress the heart. No after effects to fear, if you have bought the genuine tablets stamped Bayer. So there's no use in waiting to see if a headache will "wear-off." No use to endure pain when you can have such quick comfort as Aspirin. To men who must work on, in spite of overstrain, or fatigue, or a cold; to women who suffer regular systemic pain, Aspirin is a blessing. Take advantage of it! Carry the pocket box. Keep the economical 100-tablet bottle in home and office. Read the proven directions enclosed in the package and learn the various uses.

of the annual convention of the British Columbia Command of the Canadian Legion referred to liquor matters and veterans' clubs. The conference voted to ask the Liquor Board in future to accede to recommendations of the British Columbia Command before granting club licenses to returned soldiers' organizations.

Sweepstakes and lotteries came in for attention. It was pointed out that there were numerous sweepstakes handled in British Columbia. This was against the law, but apparently was being permitted by the government. The veterans decided to get in touch with the Attorney-General on this matter. If the government intended to enforce the law the Legion was favorable, but if the government should continue to allow these lotteries to continue unmolested it was the intention of the veterans to make use of this means of raising money.

CHURCH CHOIR PRESENTS PLAY

Large Audience Enjoys
Hilarious Musical Comedy
"In Hinky Doodle Town"

A large audience received with enthusiasm the musical comedy "In Hinky Doodle Town," which was presented by the St. John's Church choir yesterday evening. All those who took part are to be commended on the way in which they carried out their various roles. The audience was kept in constant laughter and seemed specially to enjoy the antics of the two "hobos" who were "always getting in wrong." St. John's is extremely fortunate in that it possesses many fine singers who were heard to advantage in this particular play. The proceeds will considerably augment the Parish Hall fund.

Included in the cast were Kathleen Smith, Lily Kirby, H. Bishop, J. Stroud, G. Smith, Major Cunningham, Jack Archer, Jack Lever, Dorothy Sprinkling, Olive Batchelor, Dorothy Noel, Eva Willoughby, Iris Smith, Clarendia Jeeves, Marguerite Jeeves and Huguina Bowden.

Most of the arrangements were carried out by Miss Willoughby, Mrs. Batchelor and J. G. Burnett.

Bishop Murray Installed At Impressive Ceremony

Colorful Proceedings at St. Andrew's Cathedral Yesterday Evening

Lieut.-Governor Bruce and Great Attendance Witnessed Installation

Right Rev. Gerald C. Murray, D.D., yesterday evening was installed as Bishop of Victoria at St. Andrew's Cathedral with ceremonies which were most colorful and impressive. In the presence of a great congregation which included His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, judges of the Court of Appeal and the Supreme Court, members of the provincial government and municipal councils of greater Victoria. The church was decorated within and long lines of flags floated over the heads of the great crowd of spectators who watched the procession from the bishop's palace to the church.

Promptly at 8 o'clock Bishop Murray approached the church, being attired in robes and mitre of gold, with a canopy held over his head by four bearers and an escort of uniformed Knights of Columbus with drawn swords. The procession included leaders of the Roman Catholic clergy of Western Canada, the many colors of the robes worn making a notable appearance, enhanced in the church against the background of the scarlet and white-clad sanctuary and altar attendants. Bishop Murray presented his papal authority at the church door and was escorted to the steps of the high altar, and after recital of special prayers was seated in his episcopal chair.

PAPAL AUTHORITY

Rev. Father Wood, master of ceremonies, then read the papal bull appointing Rev. Gerald Murray to the Victoria see. Dated January 31, 1929, at St. Peter's, Rome, as follows:

"Plus, bishop, servant of the servants of God: To our beloved children, the clergy and people of the city and diocese of Victoria, on the island of Vancouver, health and the apostolic benediction.

"To-day, upon the advice of our venerable brothers, the cardinals of the Holy Roman Church, we, by apostolic authority, have chosen our beloved son, Gerald Murray, of the congregation of the Most Holy Redeemer, Provincial, and placed him as bishop and shepherd over your cathedral church of Victoria, at present bereft of its shepherd. Therefore we exhort you all, and put upon you the obligation of loyalty in receiving the sacred Murray, your bishop-elect, as father and shepherd of your souls, and conceding him the due honor, you shall give to his salutary admonitions and commands obedience and reverence in such manner that you may rejoice that it has found in your devoted children and you in him a benevolent father. Where we wish and order that the ordinary, who now governs your diocese, dutifully provide that these our letters be publicly read in the cathedral church itself from the pulpit on the first holy day of obligation occurring after they have been received."

ADDRESS PRESENTED

Father Leterme then read an address from the clergy of the diocese, reciting the pleasure with which they welcomed the bishop's guiding hand, and welcome from the laity was read by Dr. G. F. Aylward, who was supported by H. J. O'Leary and A. McDermott. This document expressed confidence in the remarkable record achieved by Bishop Murray as head of the Redemptorist order would be continued in the diocese of Victoria and extended assurance of wholehearted loyalty and support. Dr. Aylward then presented the inscribed roll of the address to the bishop.

The clergy having paid their individual homage by kissing the episcopal ring, Bishop Murray advanced to the steps of his throne and read the following address, his notable voice filling the cathedral:

"Your Grace, My Lord, Right Reverend and Reverend Fathers and My Dear Friends:

"Sent by our Holy Father, consecrated a successor of the chosen band that lived in the intimacy of Our Divine Master. I have traveled across a continent to come to you. Our progress through the land has made us conscious of the living unity of the Church of God. From Montreal, Ville Marie, city of the Royal Mount and of the Heavenly Queen, redolent with memories of French-Catholics, from English-speaking Toronto, from Winnipeg, the gateway of the west, from Regina, princess of the prairies from Calgary, at the foothills of the Rockies, from Edmonton, that turns its eye to the rich reaches of the north country, from Vancouver, your sister city, I bring you the greetings of bishops, priests and people, united to you in the bonds of faith and love.

"Through the thousands of miles that stretch from ocean to ocean in our vast Canadian territory, beside the one civil allegiance to King and country, there is spiritual fealty to Christ, the Prince of Peace, there is one Lord, one Faith, one Baptism, there is the Catholic Church striving to save the souls of men.

"Here, at the farthest outpost of our western civilization, we stand on hallowed ground. The lonely mission-series of the early days look down upon this scene of splendor and their hearts are glad. The scattered faithful of other generations see in the fidelity of their children gathered here the reward of many sacrifices. From out the plain, in company with all the similar groupings of Catholics throughout the world, has a sacred trust: to preach the truth of God, to administer the sacraments instituted by the Divine Son, to bring grace to man, to reproduce in souls the all-holy life of Jesus Christ.

"Venerable in age in this young land, vast in territory, the diocese of Victoria, in company with all the similar groupings of Catholics throughout the world, has a sacred trust: to preach the truth of God, to administer the sacraments instituted by the Divine Son, to bring grace to man, to reproduce in souls the all-holy life of Jesus Christ.

"Believing on the divine commission given to the apostles, coming in the conviction of assistance from on high, supported in our office, by the infallible church, we hope to make Jesus, our God, better known and better loved by those confided to our care.

"Lovingly I greet the priests of Victoria, their loyalty to authority, their

dear supernatural spirit of sacrifice are well known. They have never hesitated to embrace the poverty of Christ. My ambition shall be to bestow upon them the fatherly and brotherly affection hitherto claimed by my confreres in religion, the Redemptorists.

"Lovingly I greet the brothers and sisters of the communities, who, in their educational and charitable institutions are carrying on the work of Christ and of the church.

"Lovingly I greet the Catholics of Victoria. Their unwavering faith in God, their true Christian conduct, and their whole-hearted co-operation with their priests, are deserving of unstinted praise.

"Lovingly I greet the representatives of the civil authority, the citizens of our island and our Province. I greet them in the spirit and in the charity of Christ.

"May God grant, through the intercession of His blessed mother, St. Joseph, St. Andrew, St. Alphonsus and all the Saints of Heaven, that my life may be spent in the service of the priests, the flock, the people of the diocese of Victoria."

After Rev. Father Wood had announced that the Bishop had granted an indulgence of fifty days to those present in the congregation, Bishop Murray in his robes shook hands with the judiciary, naval and military and municipal representatives. After he had been relieved of his golden habiliments Bishop Murray permitted kneeling in successive rows at the sanctuary railing, to kiss his episcopal ring.

The proceedings terminated at the steps of the sanctuary, where Bishop Murray in his robes shook hands with the judiciary, naval and military and municipal representatives. After he had been relieved of his golden habiliments Bishop Murray permitted kneeling in successive rows at the sanctuary railing, to kiss his episcopal ring.

EDISON DISLIKES TALKIES

There is one person in the United States who has no use for talkies. He is Mr. Thomas Edison. "I don't like these 'talkies,'" he said recently. "I can't hear a word they say. Something will have to be done for the entertainment of the 2,000,000 deaf persons, like myself. Take this girl," he said, raising apparently 30. Glad Bow. "I used to like her; but now she's talking, too, and that spoils the fun for me!" It is suggested that earphones should be attached to cinema seats for the benefit of deaf persons.

The Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders reports a considerable increase in the production of motor vehicles in England during 1929. It is estimated that 182,256 private cars and 57,576 commercial vehicles were built in British factories last year, as compared with 166,882 private cars and 48,525 commercial vehicles in 1928. Exports were up and imports down for the year, the total value of automobiles exported showing an increase of £1,500,000, while that of cars imported fell by about £400,000.

MITTFORD AGENCY EXPANDS SCOPE

To Be Factor in Development of Inter-empire Trade

Mr. M. D. Bergey, president of Campbell-Ewald Limited, has to-day announced his resignation from Campbell-Ewald Limited, and the disposal of his interests to the United States control of the company in Detroit.

Coincident therewith is the announcement of George H. K. Mitford, president of Mitford Advertising Limited, Federal Building, that Mr. Bergey and Wallace J. Laut, head of the special advertising and writing service conducted under his name, have joined the company as directors, and that a department has been inaugurated under the heading of British Empire Advertising Service to give special attention to the development of inter-empire trade and advertising for British and Canadian products.

Mr. Bergey is known from coast to coast as a sales and merchandising expert. After being associated with a number of prominent sales schools, he became identified at its inception with General Motors of Canada as its advertising manager. Later he organized the Campbell-Ewald agency in Canada to handle General Motors advertising. At that time an expenditure of $1,000,000 seemed large. To-day, the company he organized and has just left, is handling more than $1,000,000 annually of Canadian advertising.

His work has involved not only the direction of one of the largest agencies but intensive field work and sales organization. He has addressed hundreds of meetings for clients in order to insure the closest co-operation between sales, advertising and consumers.

Before opening his own service agency, Mr. Laut had a long experience in newspaper work both in Canada and the United States. He then joined one of the large Canadian agencies and had several years' experience in the handling of water power, banking, northern development, railway and general advertising. During the last few years he has written many articles on the unfolding drama of the Canadian North for the Canadian and American press, and handled the advertising for many large companies operating in the north.

The combined experience and resources of the new organization forecast the establishment of a large Canadian-owned and controlled advertising agency with broad affiliations in Canada, Great Britain and the United States.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

By SISTER MARY

Many time tables for roasting and baking and broiling and steaming have been worked out and the beginner in cooking will find them invaluable; but there are many factors that must be considered in the cooking of meats and vegetables. Time tables cannot specify the varying age, ripeness and size of materials.

The experienced housekeeper has a definite routine she follows in preparing a meal. Many new cooks, however, have known the unhappiness of cooking part of the meal cold or dried out before the rest is done enough to eat.

Young, freshly gathered vegetables

NEW ADVERTISING AFFILIATION

M. D. BERGEY GEO. H. K. MITTFORD WALLACE J. LAUT

will cook in less time than ripe ones. Vegetables which have wilted will take longer to cook than fresh, unwilted ones. The size and shape of the vegetable enters into the problem. Small vegetables or large ones cut in small pieces will cook quicker than those left whole. The more surface exposed, the shorter the cooking period.

ALLOW FOR TIME

The time required for preparing vegetables for cooking must be considered in the planning of the whole meal. Green peas should cook in twenty to thirty minutes. The time depends on the maturity of the peas. But it takes time to shell peas, longer than preparing beans or paring potatoes, so they are not a good vegetable to choose when dinner must be served in thirty minutes.

Asparagus cooks quickly and is quickly prepared. Thirty minutes should be allowed for cooking this vegetable.

Green beans cut in diamonds should cook in thirty minutes. If the beans are young and tender and freshly picked, they will be deliciously tender and delicate in this length of time. But we can't all gather our vegetables from the garden, so in order to cook the beans quickly and preserve the color they are cut lengthwise before cutting in short pieces. This takes time and must be calculated and allowed for in preparing the meal.

New carrots cook tender in fifteen or twenty minutes. Since they are lightly scraped, they are quickly prepared and only a few minutes need be allowed for their preparation.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

Winnipeg, June 5.—Wheat: The wheat market was extremely dull with practically nothing of feature going on and trade volume the smallest year to date. However, pressure was light and for the most part prices were somewhat higher. Prices at the start were about 1/4 higher, based on early Liverpool cables being firmer than due and some unfavorable crop reports from Europe and southern Alberta, but these were offset by the fact that there had been practically no export business worked overnight, and no outside interest being shown, the market eased off to 1/4 cent under the previous close. From this point the market rallied and during the last hour made new highs for the day, but it was largely due to short covering on further bull news from Europe while an upturn in Chicago helped this market.

The cash market was quiet with practically nothing going on, the demand being extremely slow. Holders were not pressing and spreads held unchanged. Shipments from the head of the lake were very small. Two vessels cleared Wednesday night, 60,000 bushels of wheat and some flax, and to-day there were nine boats in port and reported as unable to get orders to fill their holds. Russia has cleared nearly 1,000,000 bushels of wheat for export this week, as well as some barley and rye. India is also pressing wheat for export. Argentine shipments this week are estimated at 2,426,000 bushels, a little larger than last week.

The Italian government estimates the wheat crop for this country at 74,000,000 bushels less than last year. News from abroad is generally bullish, but it does not bring in any volume of buying. Showers were again received over large areas of the spring wheat belt, but very little in Alberta. Wheat closed 1 to 1 1/4 higher.

Coarse grains: There was a little buying in July oats to-day but otherwise coarse grain was quiet. Cash sales of oats were the feature in the cash trade with good inquiry from eastern Canada for good grade feeding stuff. At the close to-day July oats was at a premium of 7 1/2 cents over July barley, the widest spread yet.

Flax: Firmer to-day, closing prices 3 1/2 to 3 3/4 higher, track generally quiet but offerings are scarce.

Will the Man Who Is Stingy During Courtship Make a Good Husband?—Straight Talk to the Wife Who Neglects a Spiritual for a Material Debt

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a girl, nineteen years of age, and engaged to a man four years my senior. I have been used to making my own money and spending it the way I want to, and I make almost as much as he does. This man has never taken me to a show or a place where he thinks he will have to spend a little money. When he comes to see me we always sit at home. He thinks that it is awful for me to buy two coats a year and that I should not dress well. He absolutely refuses to let me work after we are married. Do you think that we will be happy together when our views are so different?

M. E. B.

Answer—Not a chance in the world of it, my dear. You will be miserable and the man will be miserable and life will just be one perpetual wrangle over money.

Consider the problem dispassionately. You have been accustomed to making a good salary and having all the comforts and luxuries that it brought you. If you marry him, the two of you, with the most likely addition of children, will have to live on virtually what you have now for yourself alone. That would necessitate your making many sacrifices even if your husband were generous-minded and anxious to indulge you in everything he could.

A woman may be happy and do without many things, if she knows that her husband wants her to have them and that he grieves because he cannot give her luxuries and doll her up in jewels and satins like the Queen of Sheba. There is all the difference in the world between the generous poor man who cannot give to his wife because he hasn't got it and the stingy poor man who wouldn't give her anything if he had a million.

Your fiancé has shown that he belongs to this latter class; for courtship opens up the hand of every man who isn't a congenital tightwad, and if your sweetheart never takes you to any place of amusement or spends a cent upon you, he has tipped you off to how he will treat you if you marry him.

He will make the sort of husband who gets married to save the price of a cook and because a wife is the cheapest scab labor in the world. He will regard it as a wicked waste to spend money on anything except the bare necessities of life. His wife will never have any pleasures or amusements or any decent clothes, and every cent she gets out of him will be wet with her tears of humiliation.

And, oh, girl, if this man criticizes what you do with your own money that you earn yourself before you are married, think how he will knock you for every cent that you spend after marriage, when it is his money that you are spending. He will think that you ought to wear the same hat for seven years, and that you have gone crazy when you want a new dress. He will enoop in the garbage can to see how thick you have peeled the potatoes and accuse you of trying to ruin him if you use two eggs in a cake.

Furthermore, meanness and stinginess are not confined to the pocket-book. They extend to the soul, and he will starve you for love and appreciation and tenderness just as he will for food.

Don't marry a stingy man. He is the worst husband there is in the world. You are making your own living and are free and independent. Stay that way until you find some man who has a warm and generous heart and an open hand, and who won't begrudge you the little luxuries that mean so much to a woman.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—My husband is kind and loving in words and actions to me and our three children, but I have reason to believe that he frequently looks for a lady living in another city. When his salary was less than it is now we got into debt. I am so anxious to be free of it and save every possible cent that I am doing my own work, although I am not strong. My husband argues that I shouldn't be in such a hurry to pay the debts, should keep a maid, so I would be less tired and nervous, and be able to spend more time with him than I am able to do now. He often says: "I wish you could go here or there with me" or "That you weren't too tired to do this or that," or "I wish we had some one to stay with the babies so we could go to a show this evening." But I hate debt and am bound to pay it off before having any luxuries. He is very attractive and clever, and women seem to enjoy him. What do you think of our situation?

MRS. A.

Answer—I think you are making a very great mistake, and if you don't change your tactics you will have bankrupted yourself in happiness by the time you have paid off your debt. For you are certainly driving your husband away from you toward some woman who is keeping herself rested in body and calm in mind, and who is ready and willing to play with him.

It's a good thing to have a horror of debt and be anxious to pay off what you owe, but not even a Shylock would demand more than his pound of flesh above the heart. That's what you are paying when you sacrifice your husband and your children to your mania to repay this money.

For the woman who works so hard that she depletes her vitality to the last ounce ruins her good looks and becomes nothing but a nervous, irritable hag who is a terror to live with. She has no time for companionship with her husband and children. No strength to go out with them. She is neither amiable nor amusing nor entertaining, so she becomes nothing but a household drudge, with no part in their real lives.

Of course, you think that when you get this money paid off you will fix yourself up and read and be merry and jolly, and go about with your husband and children again, but you will find that you can't do it. You have lost step with them and you can never catch it again. They have got used to doing without you and they don't need you or want you any more. They have made other ties.

There are lots of ways to help a husband, dear lady, and the most effective one of them all is to play with him when he wants to play and be such a good comrade and pal that he will never need any other. It is the killjoy wives who send husbands to the vamps for companionship, and they don't get a man out of debt, they get him into it.

Pay your debt to the man to whom you owe money, but don't forget that your first debt is to your husband and children.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—Will you please advise me about choosing a vocation? All of my friends are going in for commercial work, but I hate that. I have been thinking about taking up nursing, but they seem to think that an undesirable profession.

PUZZLED.

Answer—Don't take up any work for which you have not a natural liking and aptitude. We are only successful when we do the kind of work that appeals to us of itself and in which we find a never-failing interest. Nursing is a fine and noble profession for a girl to follow and one that pays not only well in money, but in the satisfaction of knowing that one is doing something for the good of humanity.

TWO NEIGHBORS TALKED WITH WOUNDED MAN

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Waide, Albert Head, Describe Last Hours of William Walker

Dying Man Thought Girl Was Cause of Shooting, Mrs. Waide Tells Court

Conversations they had with William Walker, as he lay in a dying condition in his cottage at Albert Head on the evening of April 9 last were detailed to the jury in the trial of David Brotherton yesterday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Waide when the hearing resumed following a view of the scene. Brotherton is charged with the murder of Walker, a laborer, formerly employed on the Waide farm at Albert Head.

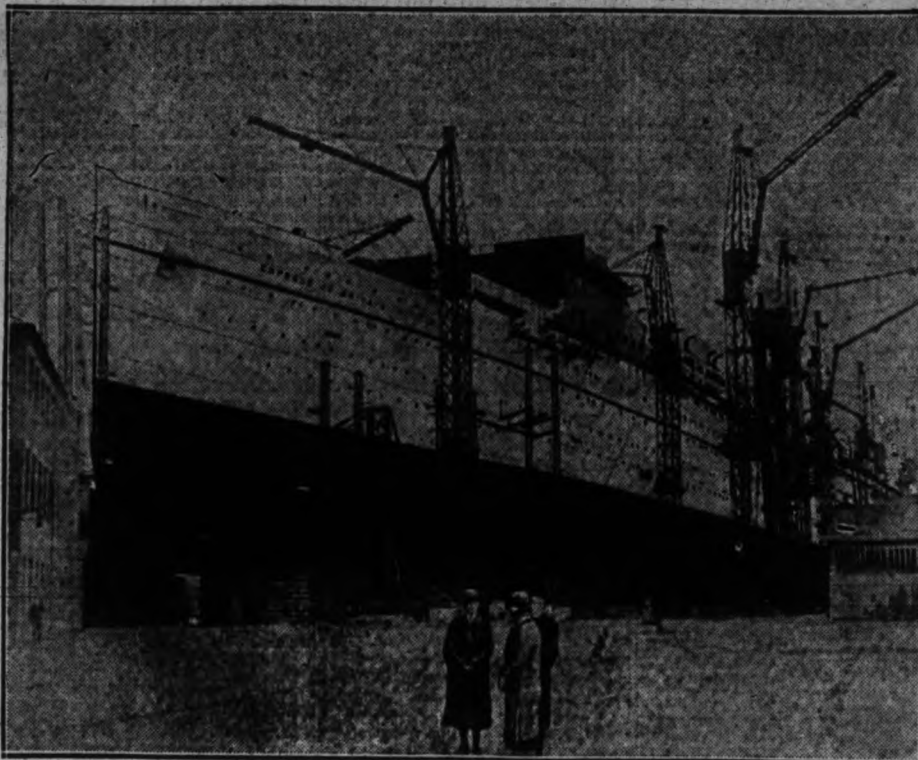

Waide identified bloodstained clothing which he said he had helped remove from Walker, as the latter lay mortally wounded in the cottage beside the Albert Head Road. Walker had been a man between forty and forty-five years of age, said witness, and had been employed by himself as a farm laborer on and off for three years.

WOUNDED MAN TALKED
In cross-examination by Stuart Henderson, counsel for Brotherton, the witness repeated the conversation he says passed between himself and Brotherton, and again between himself and the dying man, Walker. "Goodbye, Mr. Waide, I am going to die," Walker had said at one point; and again, "I didn't think a friend would do this."

The Brotherton mail box stood on the road in front of Walker's cottage, said witness, and Brotherton's children went for the mail regularly. Usually a girl of some fourteen years went for the mail, often accompanied by other children. At the time of witnesses' entry into the Walker cottage after the shooting, food for an interrupted meal stood on the table, and hot water was at hand, said witness.

Princess Visits Empress

The Empress of Britain, mammoth new Canadian Pacific liner, appears to be much in Royal favour, for not only will she have the distinction of being launched on June 11 by H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, but she recently had the honour of being inspected by Princess Mary, who paid a surprise visit to the much talked about liner, which incidentally will be the largest vessel to be launched in Great Britain since the year 1914. The Princess, shown above in the uniform she wears as Chief of the Girl Guides, made the 100-foot ascend to the decks in the workmen's electric hoist in order to inspect the vessel, and was loudly cheered by the workmen. After the visit to the steel hull, which has already been painted white, with a band of royal blue, Princess Mary inspected typical cabins and was delighted with the luxurious equipment and the use of Canadian woods for panelling and decoration. The ship's color design was first used when the liner Medina was thus painted, to convey King George and Queen Mary to the great Durbar in India in 1911.

near the Walker cottage. The mail delivered at 1:30 each afternoon, at a time when Walker would normally be away at work, after cooking a lunch at home between noon and 1 o'clock.

WAS IN AGONY
Walker was lying on the bed in the cottage when Mrs. Waide reached there, with Brotherton at the foot of the bed, setting down some clothes that had been removed from the wounded man, said witness. Walker saw the witness and said: "Oh, Mrs. Waide, I am dying," continued the witness, who tried to comfort the wounded man, who appeared to be in increasing agony.

Mrs. Waide said she asked Walker how it had happened, and he had replied: "He walked right in and said, 'You know what I've come for,' and shot me through the stomach." Walker had replied, Brotherton had left the room before this was said, Mrs. Waide testified.

TALKED WITH VICTIM
"Why did he do it, Billy?" witness said she had next asked.

The groaning man had replied: "It was over that girl of his." "Did you do anything to her, Billy?" Mrs. Waide had said.

Walker had said in response: "No, I only gave her two or three little presents." Walker, continued witness, had been partly sitting and partly reclining in the bed, and was quivering about in apparent agony. He had kept repeating that he was going to die, and said at one point: "It is a cruel world." Mrs. Waide said she attempted to dress the wound, but could do little except staunch the blood with towels. The provincial police entered the cottage soon afterwards, and Walker was removed by ambulance as soon as the case, concluded Mrs. Waide.

In evidence already before the court it had been stated that Walker, inspired just as the ambulance turned into the street entrance of St. Joseph's Hospital, after the long run in from Albert Head the same evening. The court rose at 5 o'clock for the day, the trial jury being locked up at a downtown hotel for the night.

MANUFACTURERS DEBATE TARIFF AND COMMERCE

Statement on Empire Trade Adopted at Canadian Organization's Convention

Canadian Press
Toronto, June 5.—The report of the tariff committee was presented at the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association here yesterday by Major J. O. Thorne of Winnipeg. It said the many increases in the tariff rates of other countries since the Great War indicated a definite trend toward higher protection, especially for manufactured goods. Since the last general meeting such changes had been particularly numerous.

REASONABLE PROTECTION
S. R. Pearson of Toronto, in the discussion which followed, was of the opinion it should be made clear that Canadian manufacturers did not necessarily seek high protection. What was essential was simply reasonable protection, sufficient to insure employment of men and employment of capital.

T. F. Moneybenny, treasurer of the association, agreed. The tariff, he said, should be designed not to make it easy to manufacture goods in Canada, but merely to make it possible through effort and executive ability. Because some members loosely used the term "high protection," many people had conceived an unfair idea of the policies of the association.

When the proper safeguarding of the interests of Canadian producers, whether industrial or agricultural, is assured, every practical plan to increase trade among British Empire countries should be supported, said a statement on British Empire trade, adopted by the association yesterday.

The statement was read by John T. Stewart, general secretary of the association, and adopted by standing vote.

FACTORY PAYROLLS
The statement said it must be remembered 2,500,000 people, the industrial employees of Canada and their families, were directly dependent on the payrolls of Canadian factories. Their wages and standards of living, as well as the property of Canadian investors, were at stake.

"While we have naturally dealt with the industrial side of the question," the statement proceeded, "it is evident the same principles apply to agriculturists and other producers, whose products might be in danger of displacement in the domestic market."

The statement on Empire trade

HARTSHORN IS GIVEN BRITISH CABINET POST

Becomes Lord Privy Seal; to Lead Campaign Against Unemployment

London, June 5.—Mr. Hon. Vernon Hartshorn, who was Postmaster-General in the 1924 Labor Cabinet, last night accepted Premier MacDonald's invitation to become Lord Privy Seal, the Cabinet post vacated by Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas to become Secretary of State for the Dominions. It was stated another appointment expected in the partially reconstructed Labor Cabinet was that of Dr. Christopher Addison as Minister of Agriculture in succession to Rt. Hon. Noel Buxton, whose creation as a peer was announced in the King's Birthday honours Monday.

Mr. Hartshorn will act as the Prime Minister's first lieutenant in the intensified campaign against unemployment, which will be conducted by a committee of ministers. He also will take charge of unemployment matters in the Commons, answering questions on the subject. Mr. Hartshorn would have received a ministerial appointment before, but has been serving as a member of the Simon Commission on reply.

India reforms, which has completed its duties. again, I intend to keep her chained up after this."

FAMILIAR WITH DUTIES
Dr. Addison is no stranger to the agriculture portfolio, for he has been serving as parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Agriculture. He was the first occupant of the post of Minister of Health in the Cabinet.

The post of Privy Seal became vacant when Premier MacDonald split the former post of Secretary of the Dominions. Lord Passfield is Secretary of State for the Colonies.

AT CROSS PURPOSES
There can be nothing amusing in the misfortune of others, but deafness does occasionally give rise to a ludicrous mistake, over which even the person who has perpetrated the blunder must smile.

A gentleman who is somewhat deaf is the owner of a dog which has become the terror of the neighborhood. The other day he was accosted by a friend, who said: "Good morning, Mr. Smith! Your wife made us a very pleasant call last evening."

"I'm very sorry," came the startling member of the Simon Commission on reply. "I'll see that it does not occur
